Foreword

Wahian, 1964, presents "The Many Faces of Wasson" . . . the individual faces of students and faculty who represent the school . . . the joys, tears, hopes, and frustrations of high school life . . . the face of "Tommy T-Bird" promoting spirit and morale . . . anxious faces of athletic teams striving for victory . . . the agonized faces on test day . . . active faces participating in the pageant, the carnival, and memorable dances sponsored by the student government . . . and finally, the face of Wasson itself. In this book, the Wahian staff attempts to illustrate a year of "The Many Faces of Wasson."

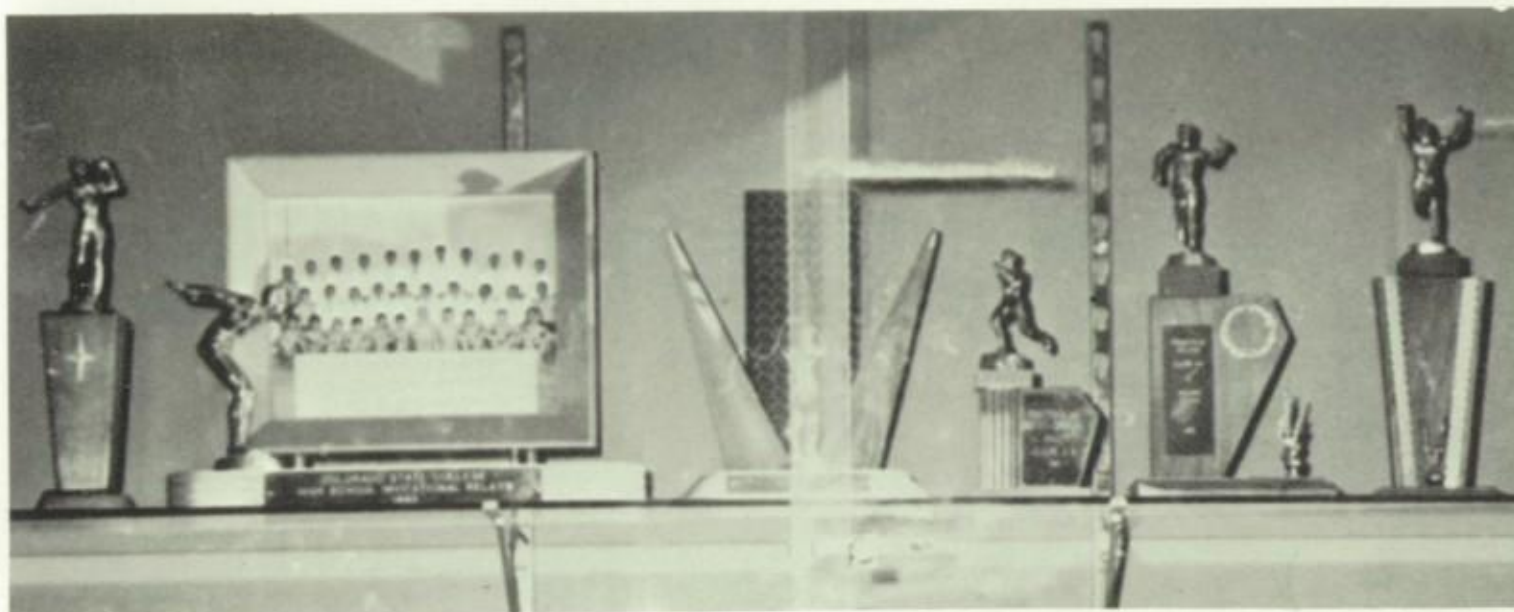

Keep
you a good

It's been fun knowing you those past 6 years. We're want through more teachers forgetful than any two people in school. Don't forget to write
+ the student + all the fun we had with them. You a real cool guy stay that way. Good luck in the future. C.P.S.
P.S. Our "409" is gone.

Face of a school . . . Wasson . . . in the shadow of Pikes Peak . . . supported by the community . . . respected throughout the state . . . remembered and cherished by graduates . . . recipient of many awards, academic and athletic . . . bolstered by its students . . . seniors, who will soon be memories themselves.

Faces symbolize life . . .

OUR PRINCIPAL, Mr. William Preston, besides being a member of the Colorado High Schools Activity Association, spends much time in student and teacher conferences and with the teachers' assignments for next year.

MR. GEORGE CHRISTENSEN, assistant principal, finds some of his duties, such as Dean of Boys and being in charge of student activities, are varied yet demanding.

Administration Enlarged To Serve Student Body

ARRANGING FOR ATHLETIC EVENTS and being in charge of finances are just some of the many responsibilities Mr. Harris Hetzler carries as the school business manager.

COUNSELOR'S CHAIRMAN George Dalglish co-ordinates the UNIVAC program and assists seniors in securing scholarships.

ASSISTANT DEAN OF GIRLS Mrs. Marjorie Girard spends much of her working day talking with girls about their academic, emotional, and social problems.

Wasson's school administration has found it necessary to attain a new high standard of efficiency to keep up with the rapidly expanding student body. This goal is being achieved by means of several new innovations, including the use of UNIVAC and IBM machines to speed along the big job of recording grades and attendance.

Mrs. Girard and Mr. Funk work part-time on administrative duties in addition to their teaching responsibilities.

THIS YEAR, Mr. Gilbert Funk works with Mr. Christensen as Assistant to the Dean of Boys, as well as functioning as Athletic Director.

MRS. KILGORE, as Dean of Girls, thoroughly enjoys her job of counseling and working with the young women of Wasson.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT Mr. Thomas B. Doherty inspects the design of Mitchell High School to be opened in 1965.

District Eleven Board Directs School Policy

School board members form the policy making body of School District 11. The board's responsibilities include financial decisions, approval of personnel, and instructional administration. Of special importance to this year's board was the expansion planning made necessary by expected future enrollment. One junior high and two elementary schools will commence operation next year, with a new high school reaching completion in two years. One third of its members, who serve without pay, are elected every two years for a six year term.

The Secondary Education Supervisors are responsible for the co-ordination of the curriculums of the District 11 junior and senior high schools. Members, who hold appointive positions, also review and select textbooks.

RESPONSIBLE FOR DISTRICT 11 secondary education are, front row, Ruth Mitchell and Joseph Tockman, supervisors. Standing: William Liddle, assistant director; Harold Threlkeld, director; J. F. Bischof, supervisor.

COLLEGE BOUND students Scott Brown, Bruce Wacker, and Steve Davis confer with two of Wasson's counselors, Mr. Sheverbush and Mr. Anderson, about their future studies.

GOING OVER A schedule conflict with Mrs. Girard is senior, Karen Loptien.

Wasson counselors help plan and revise student programs, write recommendations for college applications, and suggest types of preparations for future vocations.

BRAD SMITH RECEIVES advice from his counselor, Mr. Brickert, concerning his important PSAT scores.

STEVE MURRAY and Dennis Friesth utilize library material for daily work and long range assignments.

English and Social Science programs provide most of year's long range assignments, leading to reference work in the library.

HISTORIC EVENTS are located on the time line by Mr. Conner for interested students.

All of Wasson's academic departments were forced to expand to meet requirements of the largest student enrollment in the school's history. These growing pains were met with skillful handling by faculty members in planning changes and additions to this year's program.

The English Department received the honor of being one of only one hundred schools across the nation and the lone representative from Colorado to be visited by a team of observers from the National Council of Teachers of English, which is surveying significant English programs across the United States. This program is in conjunction with the government for the purpose of spreading beneficial ideas.

Advanced speech was introduced by the Speech Department with one class meeting three times a week emphasizing the study of argumentation, and another class meeting twice a week learning the art of storytelling. Future speakers in local clubs and community programs are expected to come from such classes.

A third year of German was added to the foreign language program while the whole department was tripled in size in the past five years.

Two new courses were added by the Math Department in keeping with the nation's demand for expansion: Algebra 5 and Trigonometry for juniors, and a Math Analysis with Trigonometry Honors class for outstanding seniors.

LOUISE MANZ questions Mr. Gannon about Shakespeare's England.

STUDENTS COMMENCE time typing trials under Mrs. Massa's watchful eyes.

THE TREMENDOUS TASK of keeping accurate records for more than 2400 students and a sizeable teaching staff keeps Anita Keife, Minnie Bell Wehner, Alice Shumaker, and Audra Dee Rogers busy year long.

TESTING TO SEE if his freshly baked cake is done is Larry Strayer.

LISTENING INTENTLY to operational instructions in the language laboratory is a sophomore French student.

A TOUCH OF THE PEPPERMINT LOUNGE is added to the 1964 Gleep Leap by one of Wasson's faculty members, Mr. Sheverbush.

Mr. ZIGOWSKI LOOKS over his collection of play programs to which he has been adding for many years.

The teacher's life is not all books. Many enjoy hobbies, sports and dancing.

SPORTING THEIR WINNING smiles are the championship faculty bowling team, Mr. Smith; Mr. Wilder; Mr. Calvird; Mr. Schroeder, Disrtict Administrator; Mr. Beattie, KKTV employee.

PUZZLED BY A difficult problem, Bill Long enlists the help of his honors mathematics teacher, Mrs. Jenkins.

Student initiative, motivated by teachers and classroom experiences, is evident when students work after school.

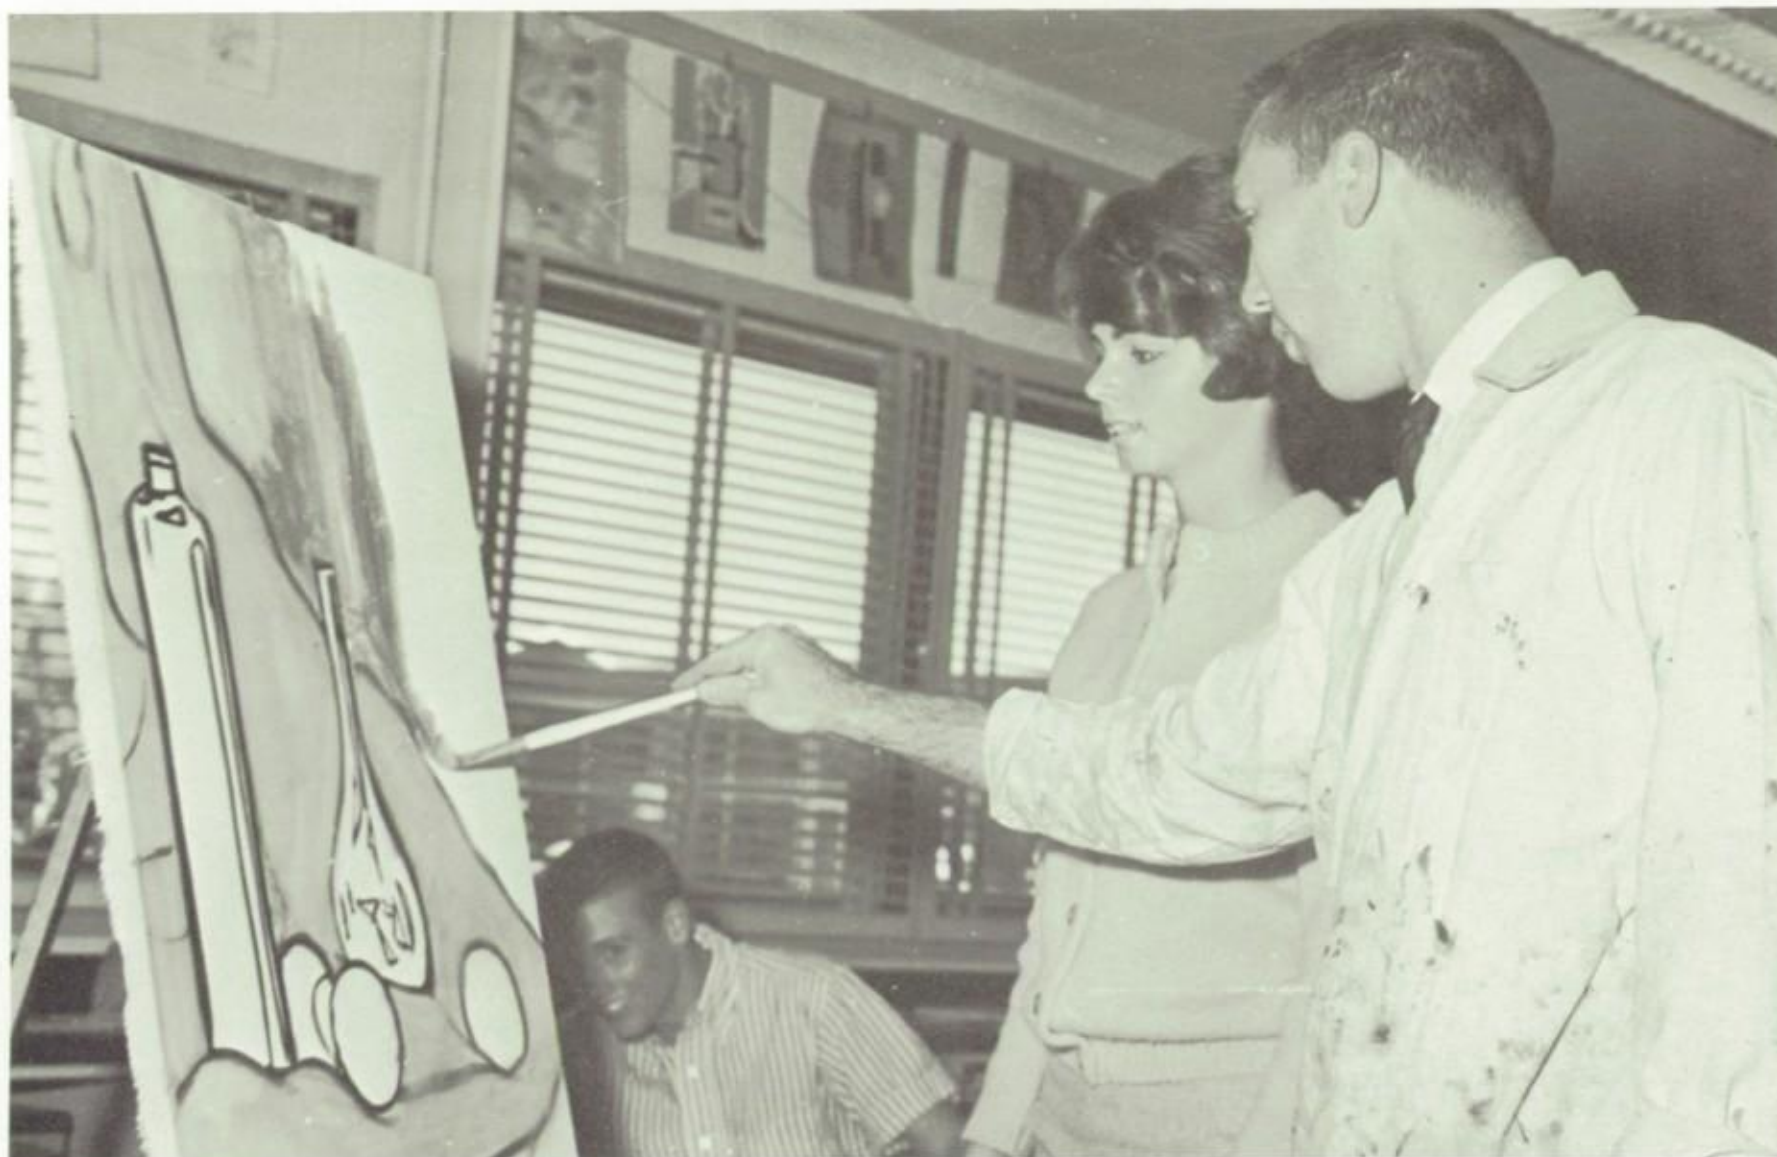

GEOMETRY PROBLEMS are explained in an interesting and easy-to-understand manner by Mr. Sauer.

SEVERAL INTERESTED Biology students watch carefully as Mr. Scoby shows them the parts of a live tarantula.

Oriental Autumn Climaxes Gala Homecoming Festival

After the five girls nominated by the football team were presented to the student body at the annual Homecoming assembly, an election to select the queen was held. The three girls chosen to reign over all activities of the Homecoming weekend were Carol Bennett, queen; Karen Lind, attendant; and Jandra Wells, attendant. Members of the royal court were disclosed to the students at the pageant Thursday night.

Oriental Autumn, the theme of the dance which was held in the gym Saturday night, featured many alumni as well as Wasson students. The dance gave the graduates of Wasson a chance to renew many friendships and old memories. During the intermission, Carol Bennett was crowned by her escort, Roy Gault. Attendants Karen Lind and Jandra Wells were escorted by Mike Hinton and Karl Tait, respectively.

The queen received a necklace, and her attendants each received a bracelet. After the crowning, the royalty and their escorts led the following dance, played by Ernie Borgman and his band.

JANDRA WELLS . . . Attendant . . . Native of Colorado Springs . . . member of National Honor Society . . . active in Young Life and Records clubs . . . cheerleader . . . plans to attend Wheaton College.

SENIORS TAKE FIRST place in the race between classes to build a pagoda at the Homecoming pageant.

'Fan Fair' Offers Booths, Rickshaws, Winning Team

Held in the football stadium, the 1963 Homecoming pageant centered around the oriental theme, "Fan Fair." The Thunderbird Legend was read and the new Thunderbird was presented to the students. Dr. Wasson, superintendent, was then given a plaque for being the outstanding educator of the year.

In keeping with the theme, the classes competed in building and painting a pagoda, a small house in Japan. The best carpenters proved to be in the winning Senior Class. The juniors came in second.

In the midst of fireworks and cheering, Queen Carol Bennett and her attendants, Karen Lind and Jandra Wells, were carried on to the field in rickshaws and presented to the crowd as Wasson's 1963 Homecoming royalty. The queen was crowned by the football captain, Mike Teague. Carol's first duty as queen was to present Bill Mitchell, Senior Class president, with the winning plaque for the class competition. She then released the balloon which officially commenced the Homecoming celebrations.

A dunking chair, hitchin' post, and cakewalk were among the many and varied club booths participating in the Homecoming carnival held in the gym immediately after the pageant. "C" Club won first place with their dunking chair, which held lettermen and coaches.

LINDA ODLE and Dale Spears find that the music and Oriental atmosphere strike their fancy.

Enthusiasm for Team Victories

"We're behind you Thunderbirds, let's go!" Behind all Thunderbird teams, win or lose, Wasson's five A-Squad cheerleaders, Paula Peake, Susie Waymire, Janie Pryor, Jandra Wells, and Cheri Ingles, led the student body in a variety of yells. Cheerleaders put forth unlimited effort to coordinate the enthusiasm of Wasson's new, enlarged student body. Among the many activities they participated in were, generally promoting morale wherever and whenever possible, working faithfully with the Wagions, decorating the goal posts for each football game and helping to plan the pep assemblies. Being host to opposing teams, T-Bird cheerleaders took visiting cheerleaders to dinner, promoting sportsmanship and friendliness between rival schools.

Consisting of five girls each, both A-squad and B-squad cheerleaders were elected by the student body in the spring of 1963. B-squad girls selected to boost spirit in the Sophomore Class were, Andrea Grebenstein, Judy Rollings, Janet Wolsleben, Kathy Dunn, and Susie Givens. The cheerleaders' sponsor was Miss Shirley Shalberg, physical education instructor.

Christmas Excitement Reigns Over Wasson

This year Social Committee had the honor of selecting the five candidates for the Sno-Ball Queen of 1963. The lovely girls were presented at the annual Christmas sing, where the student body voted for three girls who would reign as queen and attendants at the dance on December 21.

Social Committee, in order to carry out their theme "Sno-Fantasy," adorned the boys' gym with a double ceiling of blue and white crepe paper, real pine trees, and a throne decorated with snowy tumbleweeds. To simulate a misty setting, Scott Brown, Secretary of Social, rented a "fog machine" from a Hollywood studio. Amidst the misty aura, Paula Peake was crowned queen by her escort Bob Stanley. Her attendants were Cheri Ingels, escorted by Dennis O'Donnell, and Judy Rollings, escorted by Mike Teague.

Valentine Royalty Reign at Annual Sweetheart Dance

Following a five-year-old tradition, the male students were given the privilege of nominating one girl whom they wanted as Sweetheart Queen. The five girls receiving the most votes were Janie Pryor, Nancy Jewell, Pat Bailey, Lee Ann Bashore and Judy Kennedy. Stepping out of a heart-shaped candy box made by the dramatics department, the five candidates were presented to the student body during the Teacher Appreciation Assembly. The students then voted for three of the five girls to reign at the dance.

Red and white hearts with the names of each couple decorated the gym for the annual Sweetheart Dance, "Moonlight and Roses," held February 15th. During the intermission Miss Pat Bailey was escorted to her throne and crowned Sweetheart Queen by Brian Montgomery. Attendants Judy Kennedy and Nancy Jewell were escorted by Bob Setchell and Allen Sharkey, respectively. The queen received a necklace and tiara, and each attendant was given a bracelet as a memento of the occasion.

PAT BAILEY expresses delight as she reigns from her heart-shaped throne.

Laughter, Applause, Cheers Mark '64 Assemblies

Hootenannies, pep rallies, music concerts, and queen presentations were part of this year's assemblies program, under the leadership of John Corlew.

In the fall the "Bury the Trinidad Miners" assembly inaugurated the football season. As the game with Palmer approached, morale was boosted by Beat Palmer Week. In December the Student Cabinet and the Choristers combined to present an assembly honoring Dr. Roy J. Wasson. Also in December letters were given to outstanding athletes during the Fall Sports Awards assembly. In January the NORAD Band performed a concert of contemporary music for the student body.

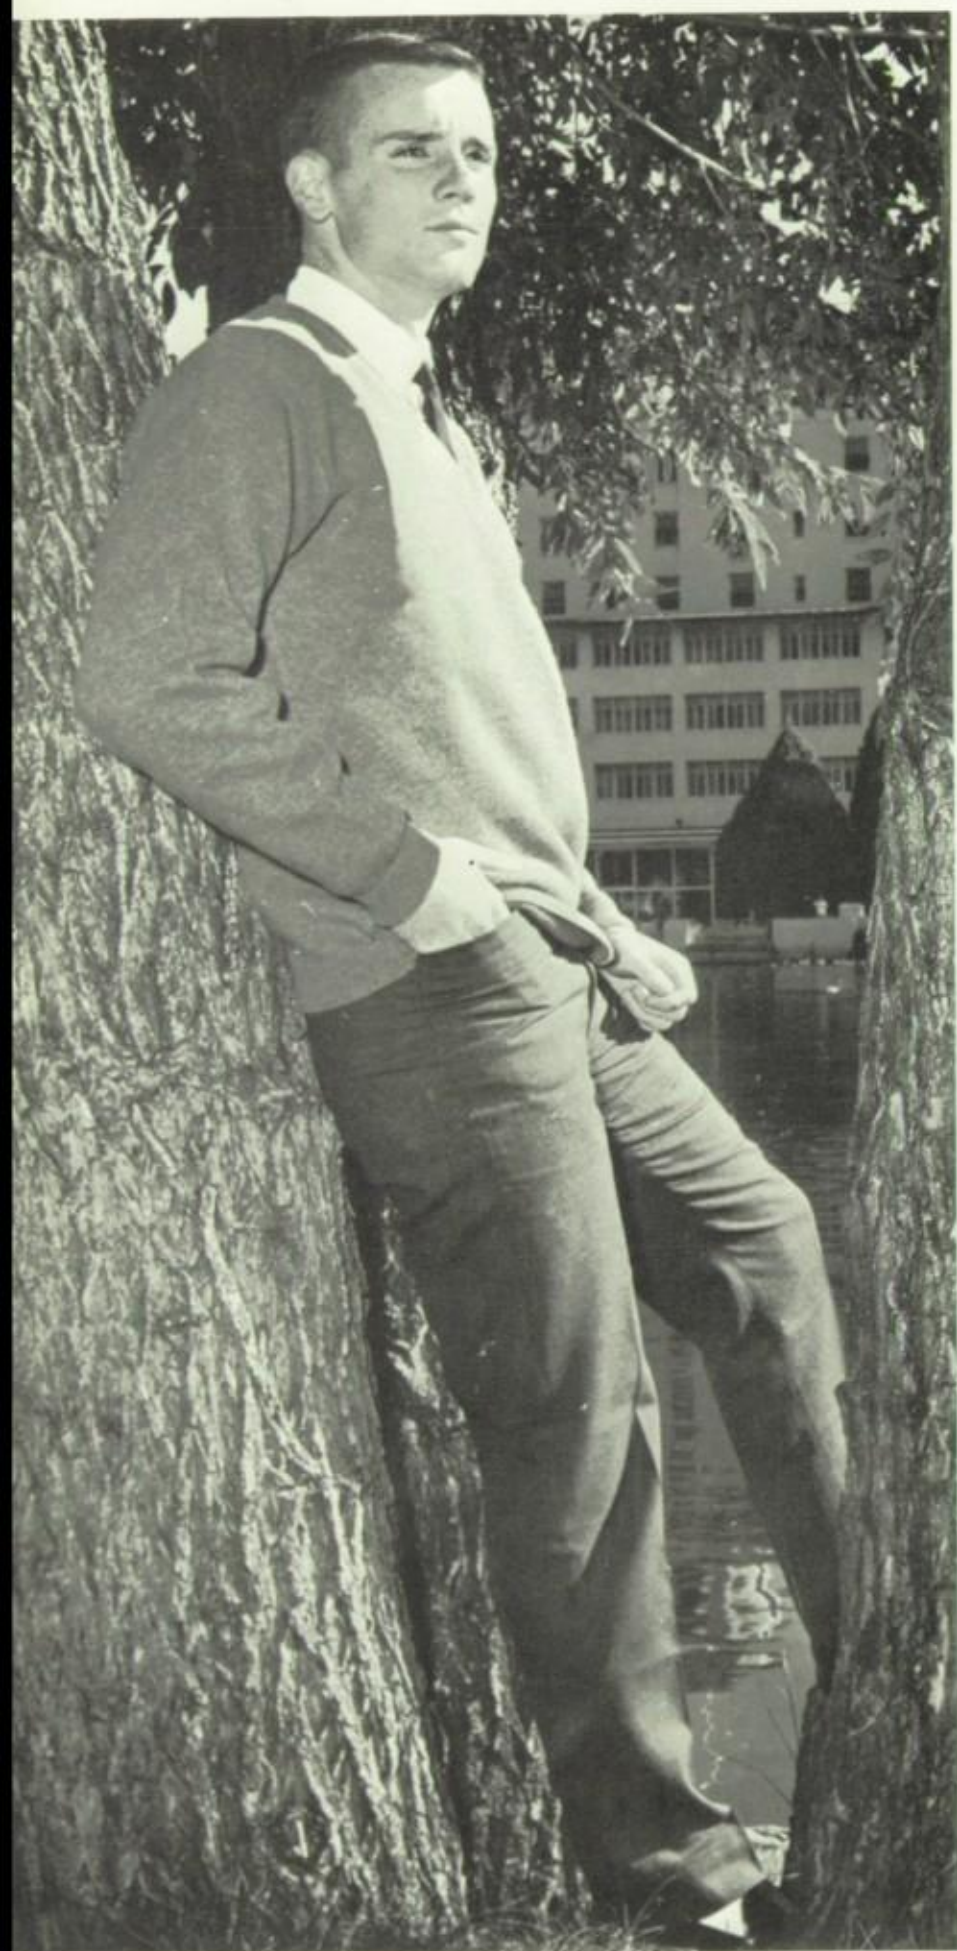

In May at the Academic Recognition assembly, students were honored for academic proficiency throughout the school year.

Bill Mitchell

As president of the Senior Class, Bill devotes much of his time to student government and is a member of the hockey team, C-Club, and the football team. While busy singing with a folk group, "The Coachlighters," he skis, plays tennis, and is an active member of his church. Interested in music and architecture, Bill plans to attend Colorado College.

Cheri Ingels

Having a wide variety of interests, both in school and out, Cheri is always on the go. She is the head of the A-Squad cheerleaders, a member of National Honor Society, and Pep Club. In her leisure hours, she enjoys skiing, both summer and winter. Looking toward college, Cheri is interested in studying psychology at Colorado State University.

CANDIDATES FOR WAHIAN royalty for 1963-1964 were, left to right, Dee Dee Tomhave, Steve Leonard, Mary Shaw, Bill Mitchell, Pat Bailey, Bill McClellan, and Cheri Ingels. Absent: Scott Brown

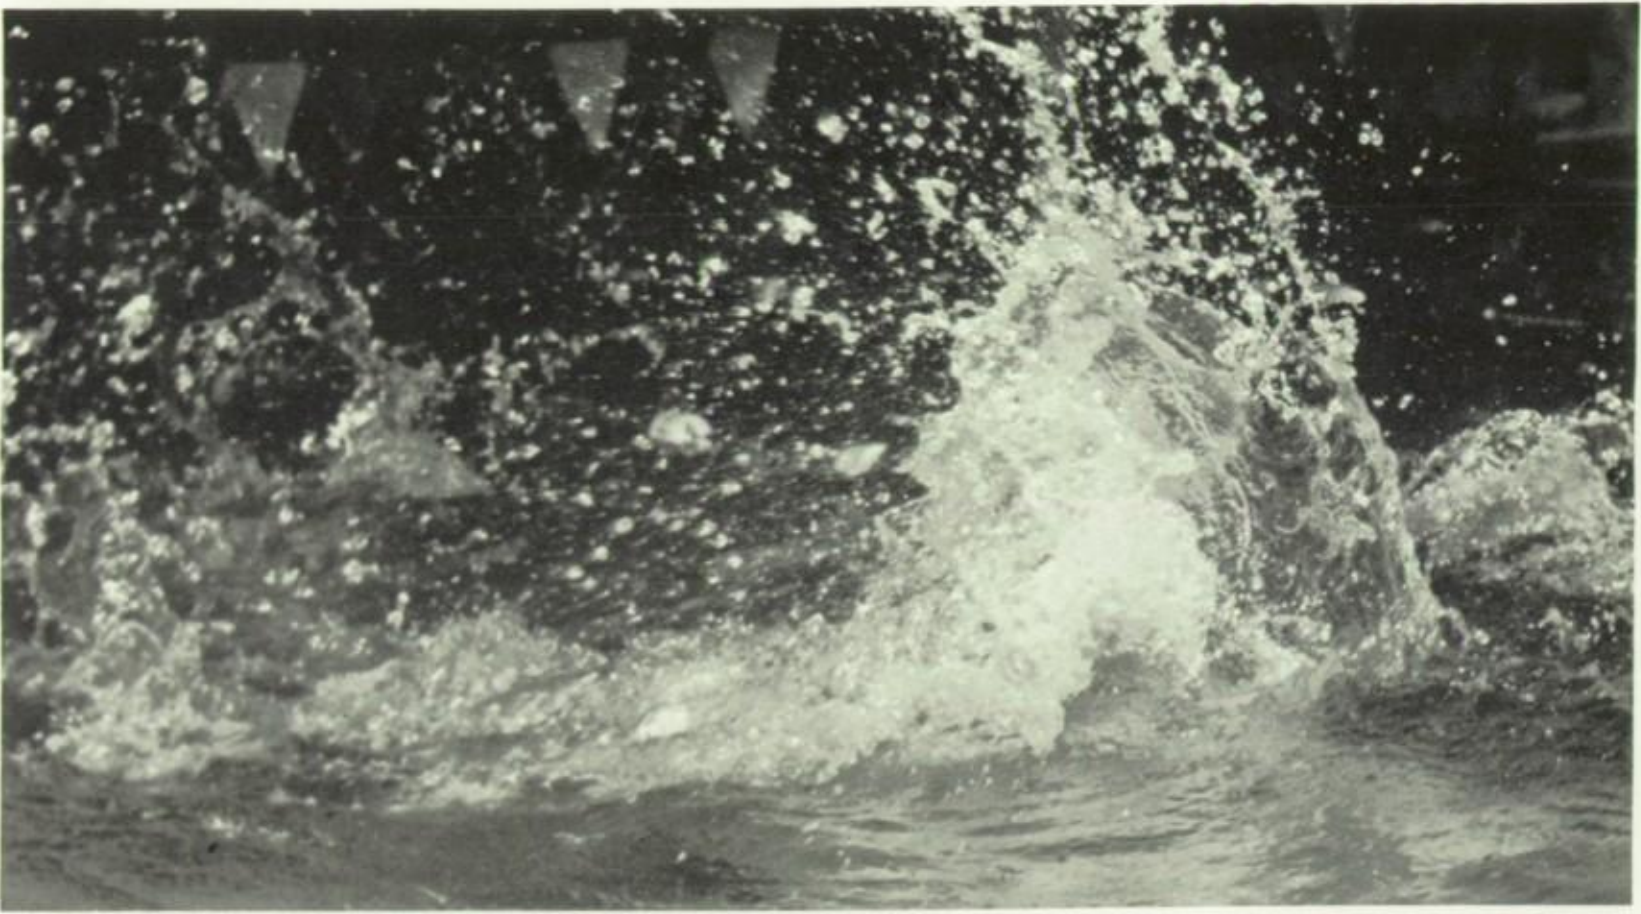

Former Miss America Chooses Wahian Royalty

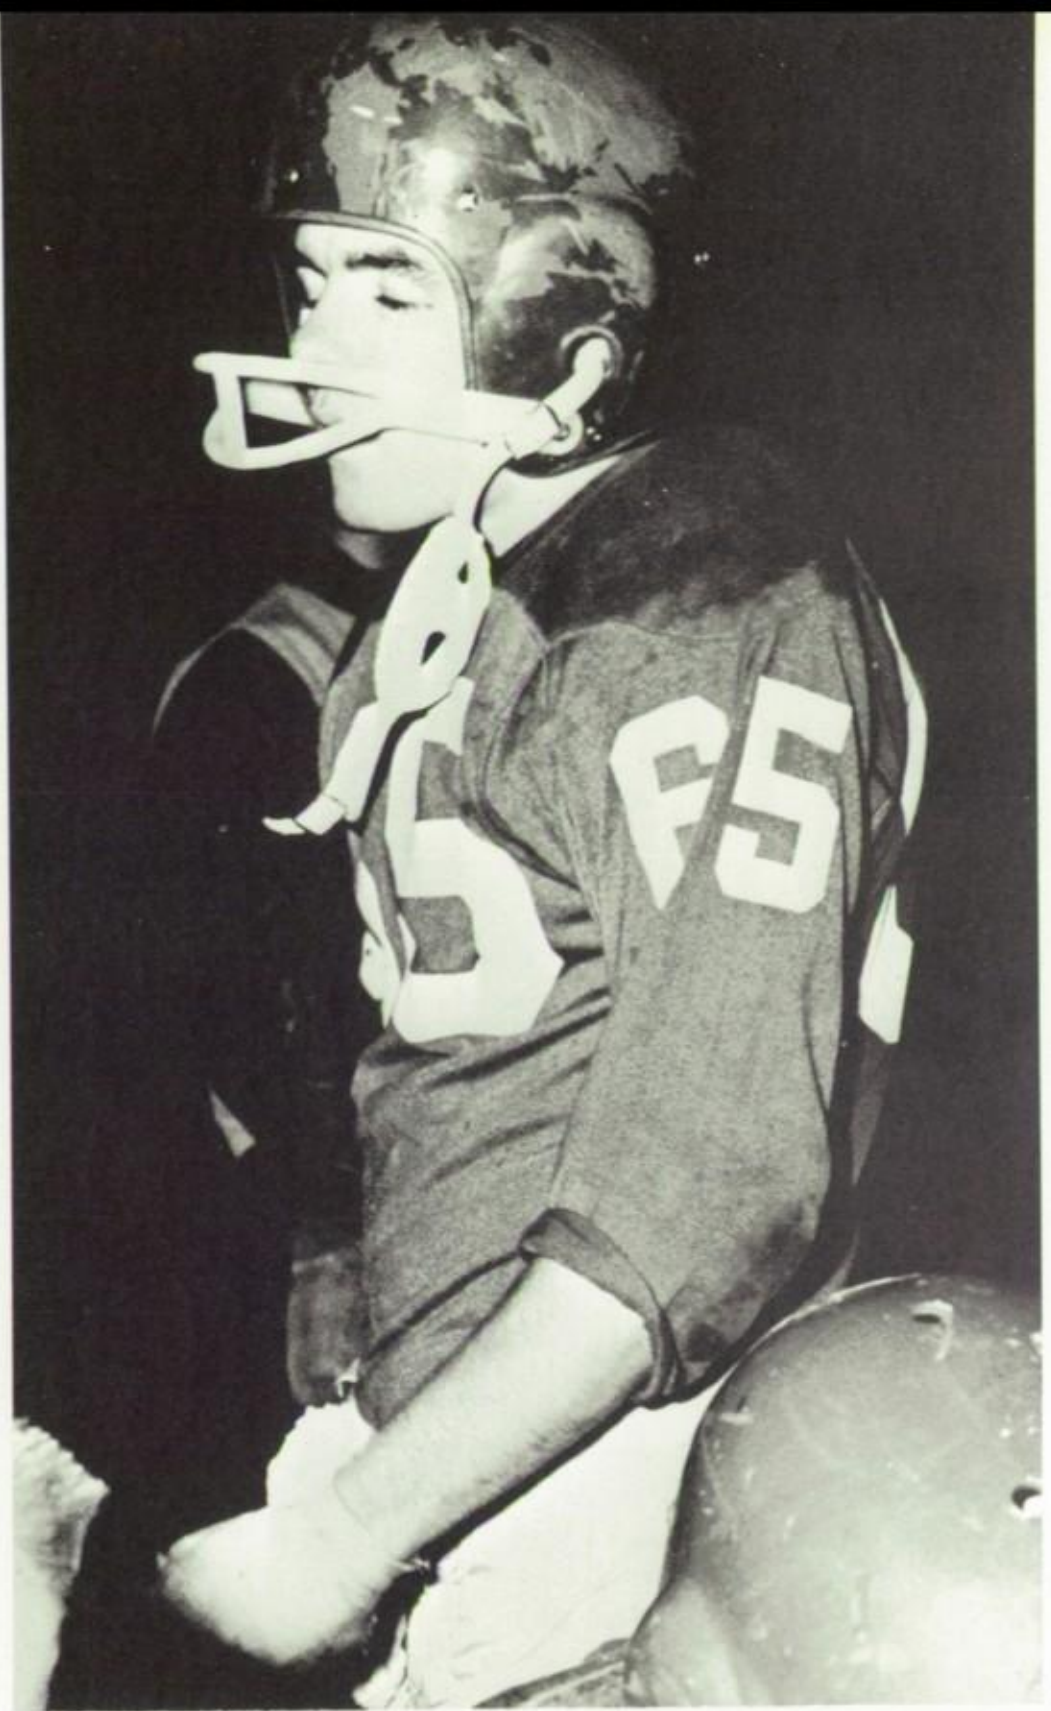

GLAMOROUS C.U. graduate, Marilyn Van Derbur, former Miss America, selected Cheri Ingels and Bill Mitchell as '64 Wahian royalty.

Reigning as king and queen of the 1964 Wahian are Bill Mitchell and Cheri Ingels. Early in October the Wahian staff selected four senior boys and four senior girls as candidates for yearbook royalty. The eight were Pat Bailey, Cheri Ingels, Mary Shaw, Dee Dee Tomhave, Scott Brown, Steve Leonard, Bill McClellan, and Bill Mitchell.

Pictures of the candidates were sent to Miss Marilyn Van Derbur, who graciously consented to act as judge. Well known as a television personality and former Miss America, Miss Van Derbur has been commentator for the Miss America Pageant for five years and has appeared on various television shows, including "The Ed Sullivan Show," "Candid Camera," and "The Steve Allen Show." Miss Van Derbur chose Cheri Ingels and Bill Mitchell, commenting, "It was a difficult choice to make . . ."

T-Birds Post 8-2 Season Record,

Hindered by a small line and by graduation of eight of eleven starting men, the varsity eleven, in preseason polls, was ranked to place low in the South Central League, and probably end the season with more losses than wins. When the final dust of the gridiron had settled, Wasson had finished second in South Central League action and had posted an 8-2 win-loss record, the best of any Thunderbird varsity thus far.

An ominous rumble of what was to come was heard as Wasson trimmed an Aurora Central team by a score of 7-0. Mike Teague, Wasson's senior fullback, drove three yards for his first touchdown of the season, but certainly not his last.

Take Second in S.C.L. Football Race

In the second game of the season, a heart-rending 6-0 defeat was handed to the Thunderbirds by Lakewood's Tigers, thus making the sixth defeat in as many starts that Wasson has suffered at the hands of Lakewood.

Next came a rather lopsided 41-0 victory over Arvada West in the last pre-league action for the Thunderbirds. Head Coach Gib Funk cleared his bench and saw a different back account for each one of Wasson's six touchdowns.

In the first league action for the Thunderbirds, Clay Chambers, with only three seconds left showing on the clock, booted a 24 yard field goal to lead the Thunderbirds to a 13-12 victory over Trinidad's Miners.

Again Clay Chambers' toe put the Thunderbirds in the winning column as his two extra points proved to be the margin of victory for the Thunderbirds in a 14-12 win over the Colts of Pueblo South.

Once more Clay Chambers was to boot the Thunderbirds to victory as his single extra point paced the Thunderbirds to a 13-12 victory against Pueblo Central's Wildcats.

Against a tough team of Grand Junction Tigers, Wasson increased its number of consecutive South Central League victories to sixteen by defeating the Tigers 7-0 on their home field. Mike Teague registered the lone touchdown, to make a total of four for him so far in the season.

In the annual game with Palmer, victory came sweetly to the Thunderbirds as they smashed the cross-town Terrors by a score of 27-0. In a one-sided victory that showed the Thunderbirds honed to a razor-sharp edge, the benches were completely cleared for the second time in the season.

Tied with Pueblo Centennial for first place in the tight South Central League race, the Thunderbirds went into their ninth game of the season, against Centennial's Bulldogs, keyed-up and eager for the taste of victory. However, when the final gun sounded, the scoreboard registered a 41-7 score in favor of the Bulldogs.

In the final game of the season, Mike Teague, co-captain and starting fullback, scored his eighth touchdown and rolled up a season total of a whopping 1,032 yards gained rushing to lead the Thunderbirds past Pueblo's East Eagles by a score of 12-7.

The varsity football team was led by Head Coach Gib Funk, with assistance from Coach Westbay, Coach Hartman, Coach Kalber, Coach Talbot, and Coach Green.

Soph Football Team Registers 8-3 Season Record

Led by Coach Tom Falgien with assistance from Coach Mason, Coach Larson, and Coach Robinson, the B-Squad finished its season with an 8-3 record, the finest season any Wasson B-Squad has registered.

Sophomore gridders established themselves as a potential powerhouse as they downed Florence 26-0 in their opening contest. The next week, however, the T-Birds lost 14-0 to a strong East Denver team. Apparently their spirit had been aroused, though, because the baby birds breezed through their next three opponents, downing Trinidad, 12-0, Pueblo Centennial, 12-0, and Pueblo South, 13-12. This string was snapped at three by Pueblo Central, who overwhelmed the T-Birds 13-0.

Once more the T-Birds snapped back, this time by beating their next four opponents: Widefield, 20-7, Palmer, 13-0, Fountain Valley, 32-14, and Deaf and Blind, 19-0. The final game of the season saw the T-Birds rocked back 40-6 by Pueblo East.

Netters Capture 3 Victories in Tough S.C.L. Race

T-Bird netters ended their '63 season with a fourth place in a tight S.C.L. campaign. Out of six conference matches, the team, coached by Mr. John Sauer, gained three victories along with three defeats.

In the district meet, T-Bird netmen placed third due to the top-notch playing of team captain Dave McClintock and teammate Robin Morin. These two fine tennis players were also the Wasson delegation to the state meet, but unfortunately were defeated in the first round of play.

Wasson's Distance Runners

Coached by Mr. Jerrold Robinson, the distance team placed a high third at the S.C.L. conference meet. Although the team placed second at this meet last season, it was generally felt that competition was considerably stiffer this year.

The season, as a whole, was the best in the history of Wasson's cross-country teams. A very high eleventh was scored at the State Meet, while impressive, firsts, seconds, and thirds were scored at other major meets.

Captain Jeff Berven was the year's outstanding runner, and is, no doubt, the best Wasson runner to date. He placed first in five of the meets he entered, and placed third at the State Meet, also tying the existing state record for the mile and a half at the Aurora Invitational.

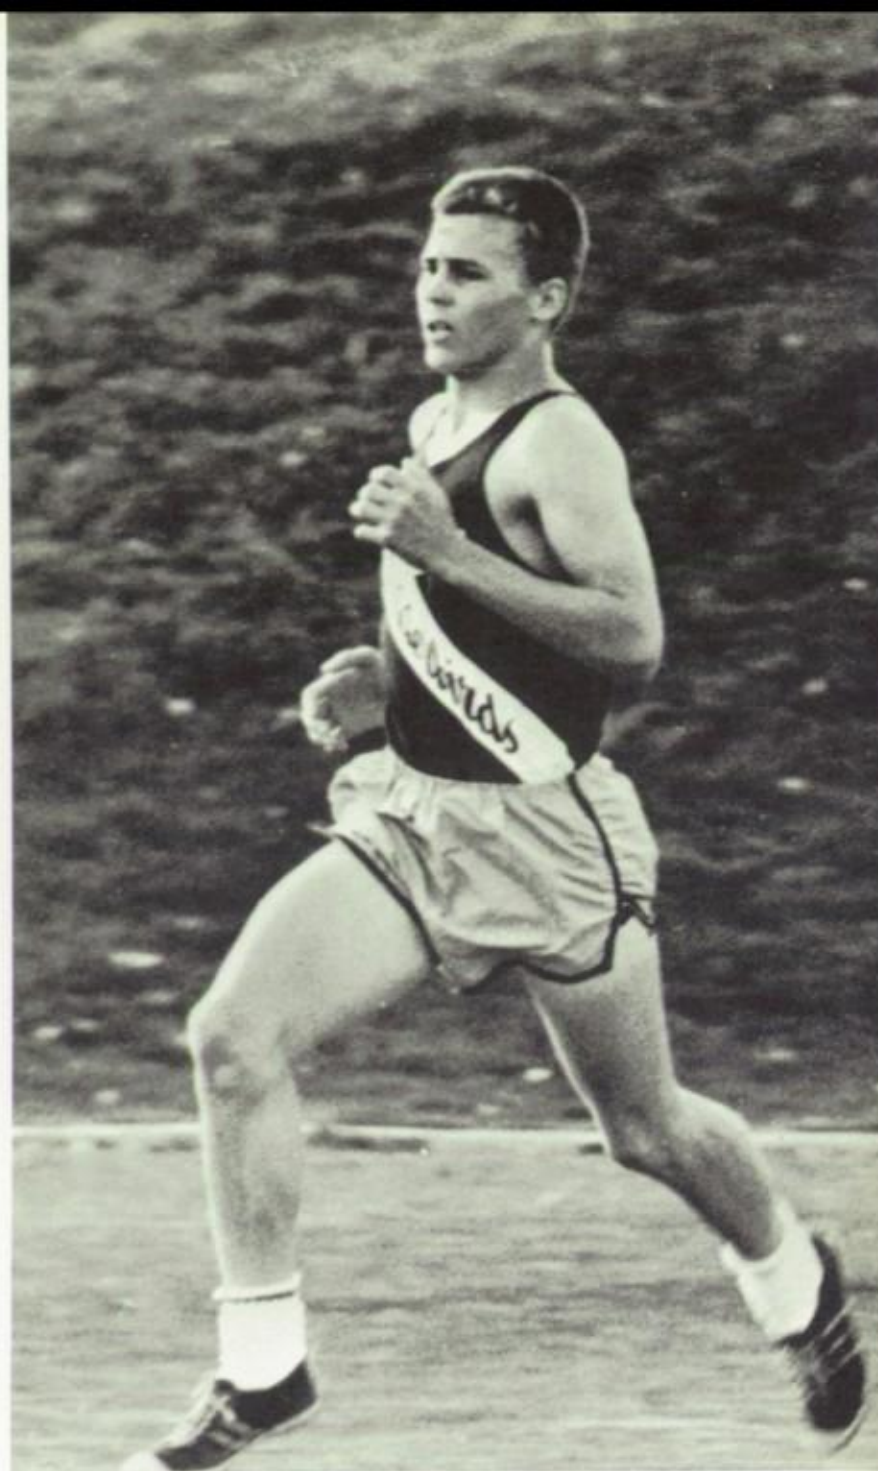

Bill McClellan and Jeff Berven were the only returning lettermen; as a result of this, the team was relatively inexperienced at the start of the season. With the aid of Allen Britton, Barry Clayton, and Doug Brenneman, however, the team was well balanced.

The turnout of prospective runners exceeded that of all previous years. Because of this interest, a B-Squad was formed, with Mr. Rex Miller as coach.

Hoopsters Give Spectators a Thrill with Many

Although the A-Squad basketball team started out the year with the handicap of having only one returning letterman, they compiled a fine 7-11 win-loss record. The team, under the direction of Coach Dick Westbay, began practices immediately after the football season ended and put together a quick, effective team from the ranks of the individuals who showed up for their first practice. They then went forward to win their first game against Denver South by a large margin.

Although their conference record was not too impressive, they had a number of thrilling games with wild last minute shots, post-game foul shots, and sudden death over times. They gave some of the conference's best a run for their money.

The team itself was composed of mostly juniors and seniors with a few exceptional sophomores filling in in times of need. The top scorer among the ranks of the team was Charlie Steel who sank 181 total points throughout the season, finishing with a 10.1 game average. Running close behind him were John Wickham with 171 points and Jim Smith with 161. Besides being the top scorer, Steel was also the number one rebounder.

outplayed and outscored almost all their opponents. The team's top scorer was Rod Wells, who compiled a total of 142 points throughout the season. Following close behind him were Dave Kendrick and Frank Baird with 125 and 103 points respectively.

B-Squaders Win Post-Season Sophomore Tournament

The B-Squad team, under the direction of Coach Gill, compiled a 10-10 record for its 1964 season. The team was quick and strong and managed to defeat all opponents who had only sophomores on their team. The top scorer and one of the top rebounders was Bob Lynn, who averaged 11.1 per game. Other people who rated commendation for their skill in shooting and rebounding were Richard Wadlow and Randy Schranz.

1964 Pucksters Skate to Third Place in City League

Despite the fact that the season record for the icers shows a losing season, many of the games played were close and were lost only in the closing seconds. This year, one of the more successful seasons, the team record at the close of the regular season stood at three wins as compared to nine losses. In the post-season playoffs for the city title, Wasson faced Palmer in the first game. The final score of this first match was four to one in favor of the Terrors. Against Fountain Valley in the second game, Wasson again ended up on the losing end, this time with a final score of four to three in the Dane's favor.

When the final results were tallied at the end of the season, it was co-captain Jim Berthrong and Dave Miller, each with seven points, who led the T-Birds in scoring. Co-captain Jim Berthrong had a berth on the starting team when the All-City teams were announced.

Representatives to State

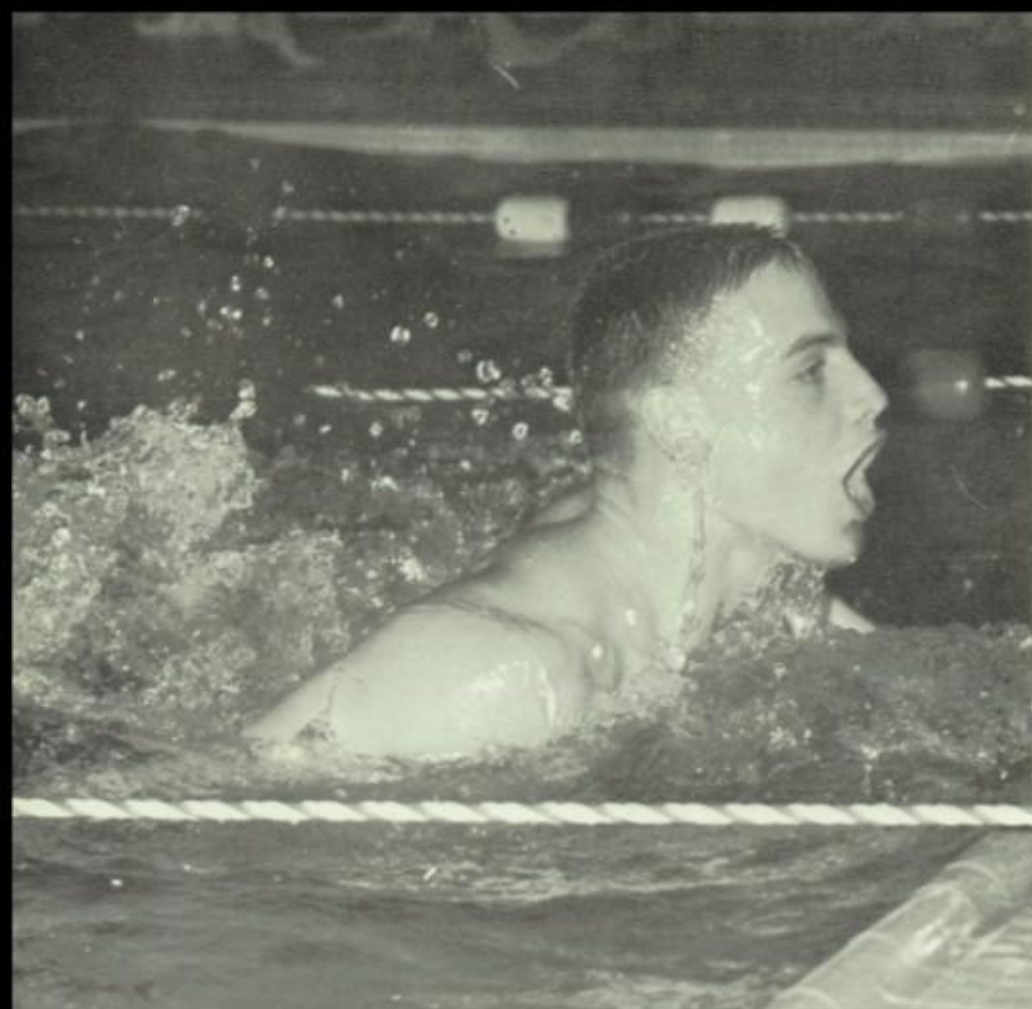

Although this year's wrestling season wasn't spectacular, the Wasson grapplers, under Coaches Hartman and Kalber, did win five of their seventeen meets. Next year's team, however, will have eleven returning lettermen who will help to make the T-Bird matmen strong contenders for the '65 Conference championship.

Wasson's best showing came at Conference. At this meet, which is a qualifying meet to decide which wrestlers go to State and at which no team points are kept, eight places were taken. Yogi Grandcourt took first in the 165 pound division, Clif Catron took first in the 120, and Chip Summers took second in the 138. Other wrestlers taking places were: Jim Ranals with a third in the 112 pound division, Tim Ives with a fourth in the 133, Ricky Clark with a third in the 145, Dave Bernard with a fourth in the 154, and Bud Hoffpauir with a fourth in the 180.

Three Wasson grapplers, Yogi Grandcourt, Clif Catron, and Chip Summers, placed high enough to go to State. They were defeated, however, before reaching semi-final competition.

Then Place High Second at State

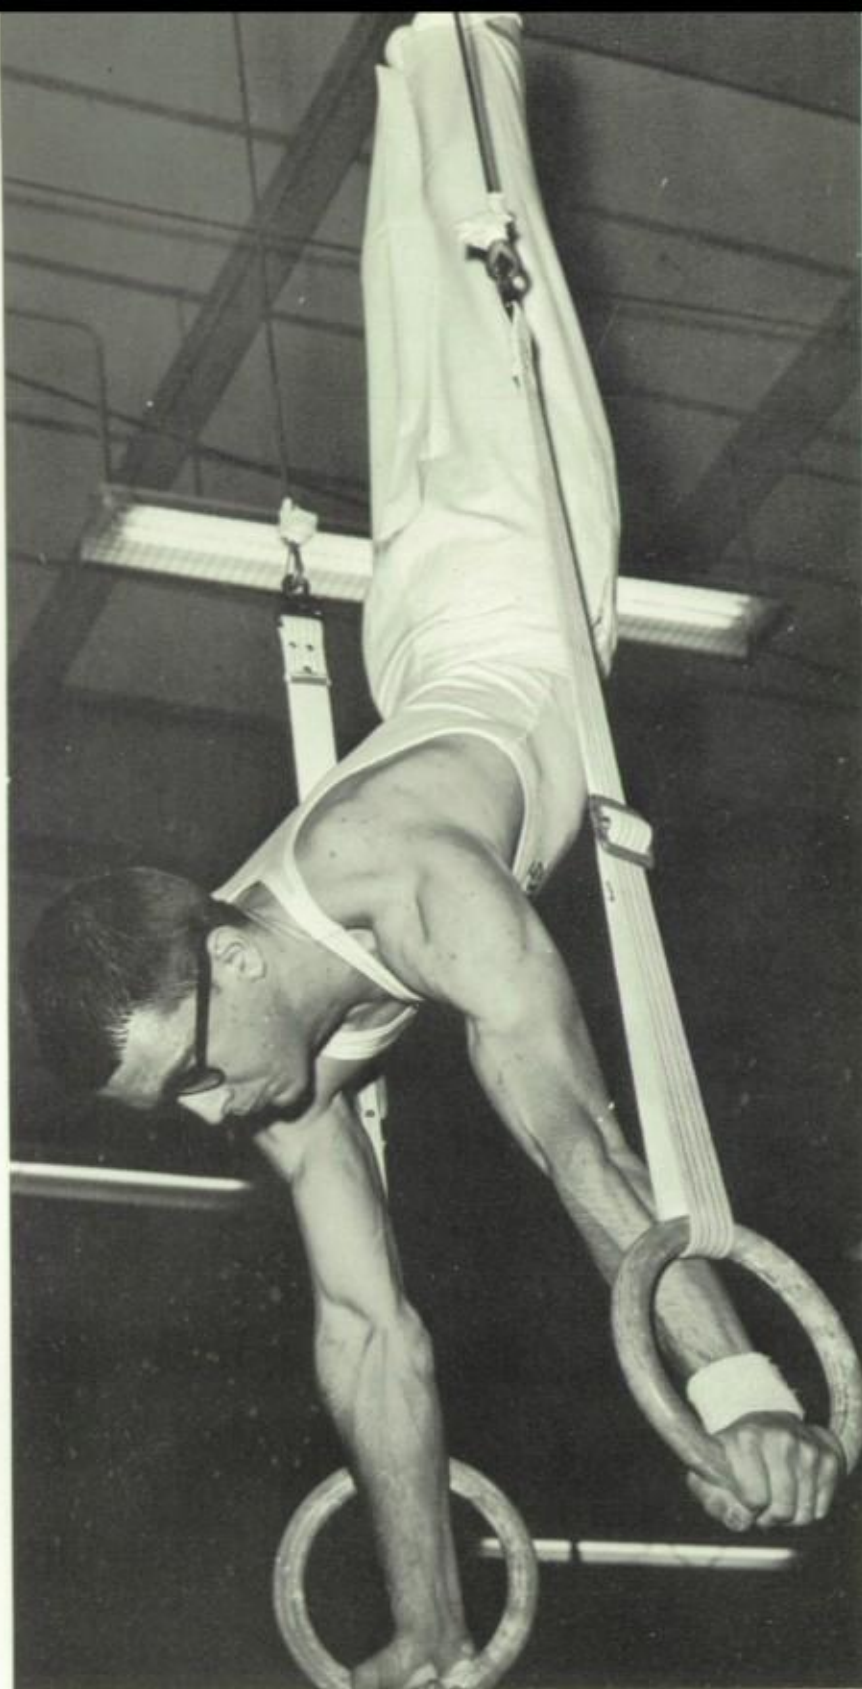

Wasson's 63-'64 mermen swam to their season's best record in the history of the school. They scored an 11-1 win-loss record with the loss going to George Washington High. Adding to their outstanding record, they swam to an overwhelming victory at the District Meet and a high second at State.

At the District Meet, "McVehil's Navy" swam to victory, breaking eight of the ten existing district records. Interestingly enough, several of the pool's records, which had previously been made by college swimmers, were broken. This meet qualified the following sixteen swimmers for the State Meet: Scott Brown, Charles Burton, Warren Flaherty, Royce Foster, Dutch Franz, Rob Gibson, Jerry Gray, Marshall Griffith, Nick Gwin, Charles Hammitt, Walt Hooker, Buddy Jewell, Ron Page, Bruce Teschner, Mike Vinson, and Bruce Wacker.

Again being defeated by George Washington, the team posted second place finish at State. They won a total of fifteen medals, of which four were gold, nine were silver, and two were bronze. The second place medley relayers included Royce Foster, Buddy Jewell, Ron Page, and Bruce Wacker. Also taking second, the free relayers were Scott Brown, Buddy Jewell, Ron Page and Mike Vinson. The outstanding swimmer at State was Bruce Teschner, who won two gold medals, while Scott Brown and Warren Flaherty each took single victories. Other medalists at this meet were Warren Flaherty with a second, Mike Vinson with a third, and Bruce Wacker with a third.

Gymnastics Team Aims for First State Championship

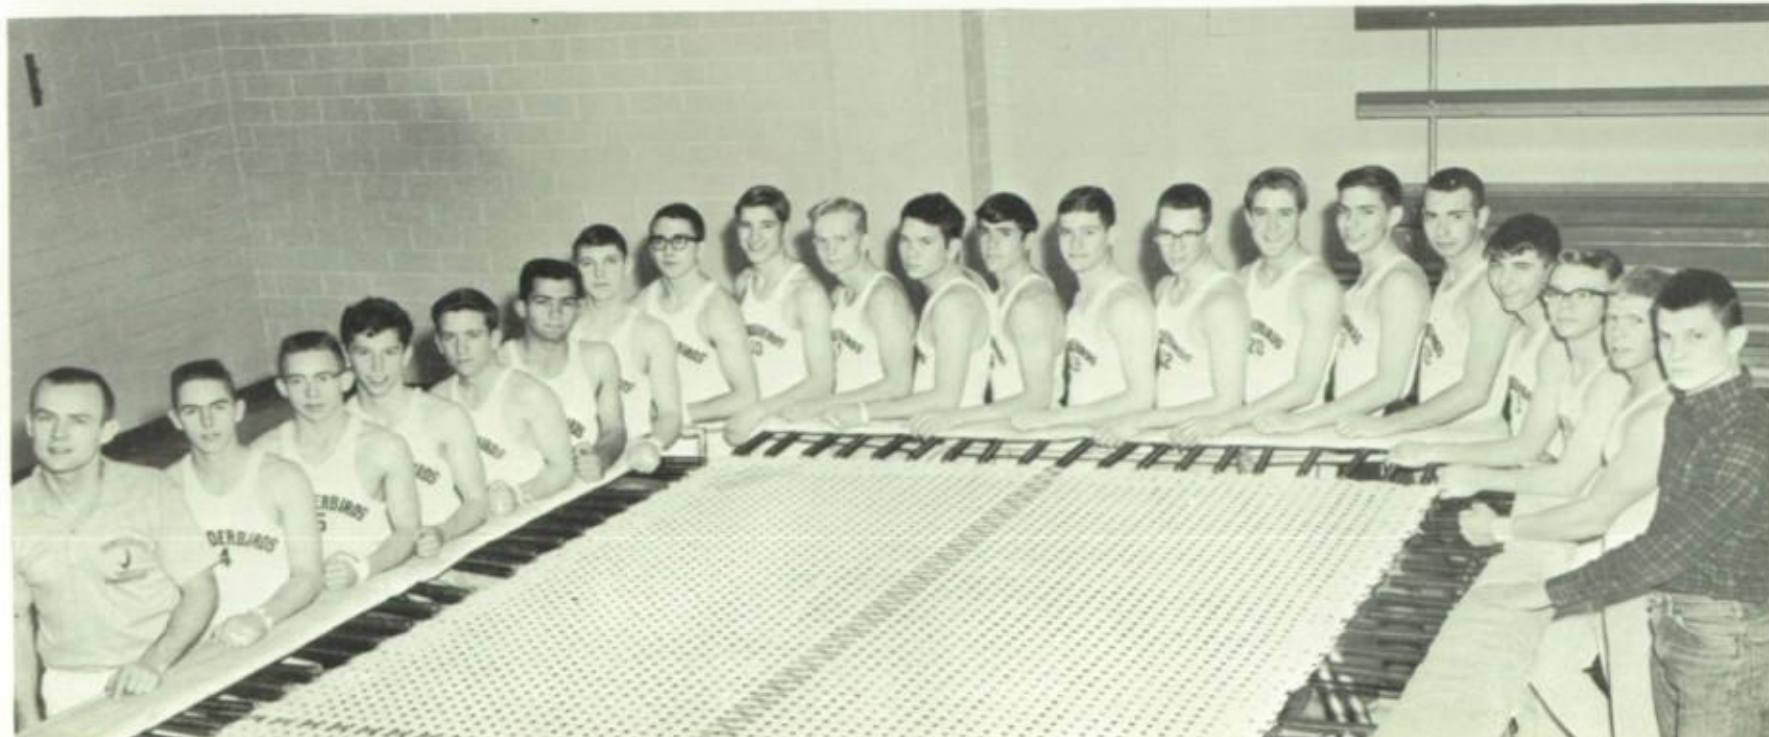

Coach Mike Larson's gymnastics team had high hopes as they began their 1964 season. They started practice early in the school year, giving all interested boys a chance to compete. At first the practices were irregular, occurring only when they seemed convenient. As the season opened, the team practiced every evening, giving each gymnast a good workout. All this work led towards a state championship.

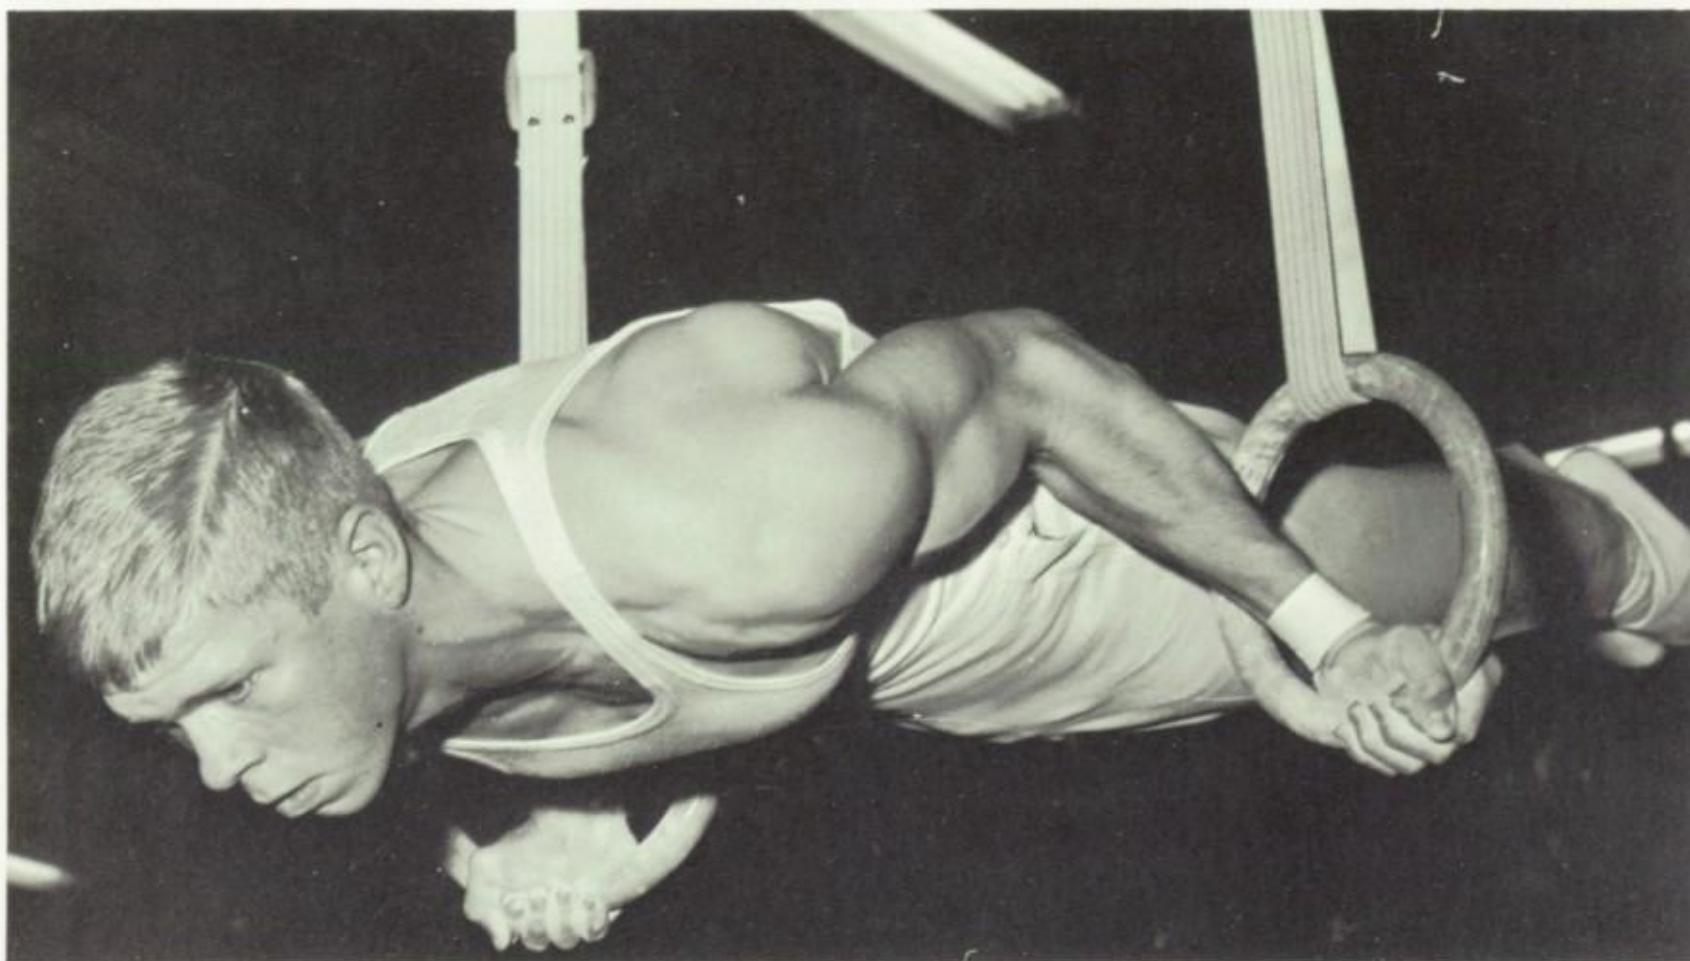

The team had five returning lettermen this year. First was Art Wright, a senior who works on the side horse. Next, came another specialist on the side horse, senior Steve Willman. The last of the seniors, Dutch Franz, was one of the T-Bird's top men on the trampoline. Besides these seniors, there were also two junior lettermen. These two were Ken Blandin, a tumbler and floor exercise man, and Terry Shortt, one of the few gymnasts on the team who worked all around.

In addition to these lettermen, Coach Larson expressed great hope in many new and talented gymnasts. Some of the more talented of these were Fred Schanberger, Dave Caulder, and Jim Newbill on the high bar, John Stock on the trampoline, Ron Lamutt and Jess Smith on the side horse, Jim Hillhouse and Jim Edwards on the still rings, and finally Dennis Berg and Chuck Kennedy in tumbling.

Wasson Has Largest Turnout

Approximately ninety-five boys turned out for the initial track practice, the largest participation in this sport for its history at Wasson. Despite the large showing, the team was expected to be weak in the pole vault, the shot put, and the sprints.

The returning lettermen this year were Jeff Berven, Mike Martin, Dominic Flacco, Barry Stimits, Tom Benson, Allen Britten, Steve Leonard, Bob Toof, and Allen York. These lettermen were expected to better this year's dual and triangular meets and to give an overall support to the larger meets.

Last year's team placed a high second at the Conference Meet and took five firsts, one second, and one third in dual and triangular meets.

This year's coaching staff, consisting of Mr. Jerold Robinson, Mr. Jim Hartman, and Mr. Tom Falgien, was responsible for a well-planned South Central League season. This season consisted of fifteen meets, including the following home meets: the Pikes Peak Relays, the Wasson-Palmer-Aurora Hinkley Meet, the Wasson-Palmer-Aurora Central Meet, and the Conference Meet.

FIRST BASEMAN RON NIGHSWONGER turns to throw to home plate.

The 1963 edition of the baseball team finished its season by posting a second in the state finals. At the end of the season, the team record stood at eighteen wins and three losses. The T-Birds lost only two games in the course of the regular season and dropped their last game of the season, against Aurora in the state finals, by a score of eight to four.

The 1964 team will have seven returning lettermen. The seniors are: Clay Chambers, Bob Kochis, Hal Meller, Ron Nighswonger, Terry Stillwaugh, and Mike Teague. Jim Smith is the only returning junior letterman.

A total of 150 sophomores, juniors, and seniors turned out for the preseason practices. The number of juniors and seniors will be trimmed to thirty, and the sophomores will be cut down to form a B-Squad.

ROGER PAGELS finds himself in the "boondocks" while practicing at Patty Jewett Golf Course.

T-Bird Golfers Compete In New Regional League

Coach Bert Hoffmeister's golf team started its practices at the beginning of the school year. The team held practices at the Patty Jewett Golf Course, with the sophomores playing in the morning and the juniors and seniors after school. These players put in many long hours of hard work, striving toward a conference and possibly a state championship.

Along with their tight conference schedules, the coaches of many of the schools in Colorado Springs organized a city league. This consisted of competition between all the city golf teams on three of the excellent golf courses within the city. This will be continued as a regular competitive event in future years.

This year's team has many returning players from last year's team. Two of these, Greg Johnson and Roger Pagels, were elected as the co-captains for the team. Roger Pagels was also the only returning letterman. This year Mr. Hoffmeister hopes to letter at least five eligible boys, if not more.

T-Birds Show Good Participation in Intramural Program

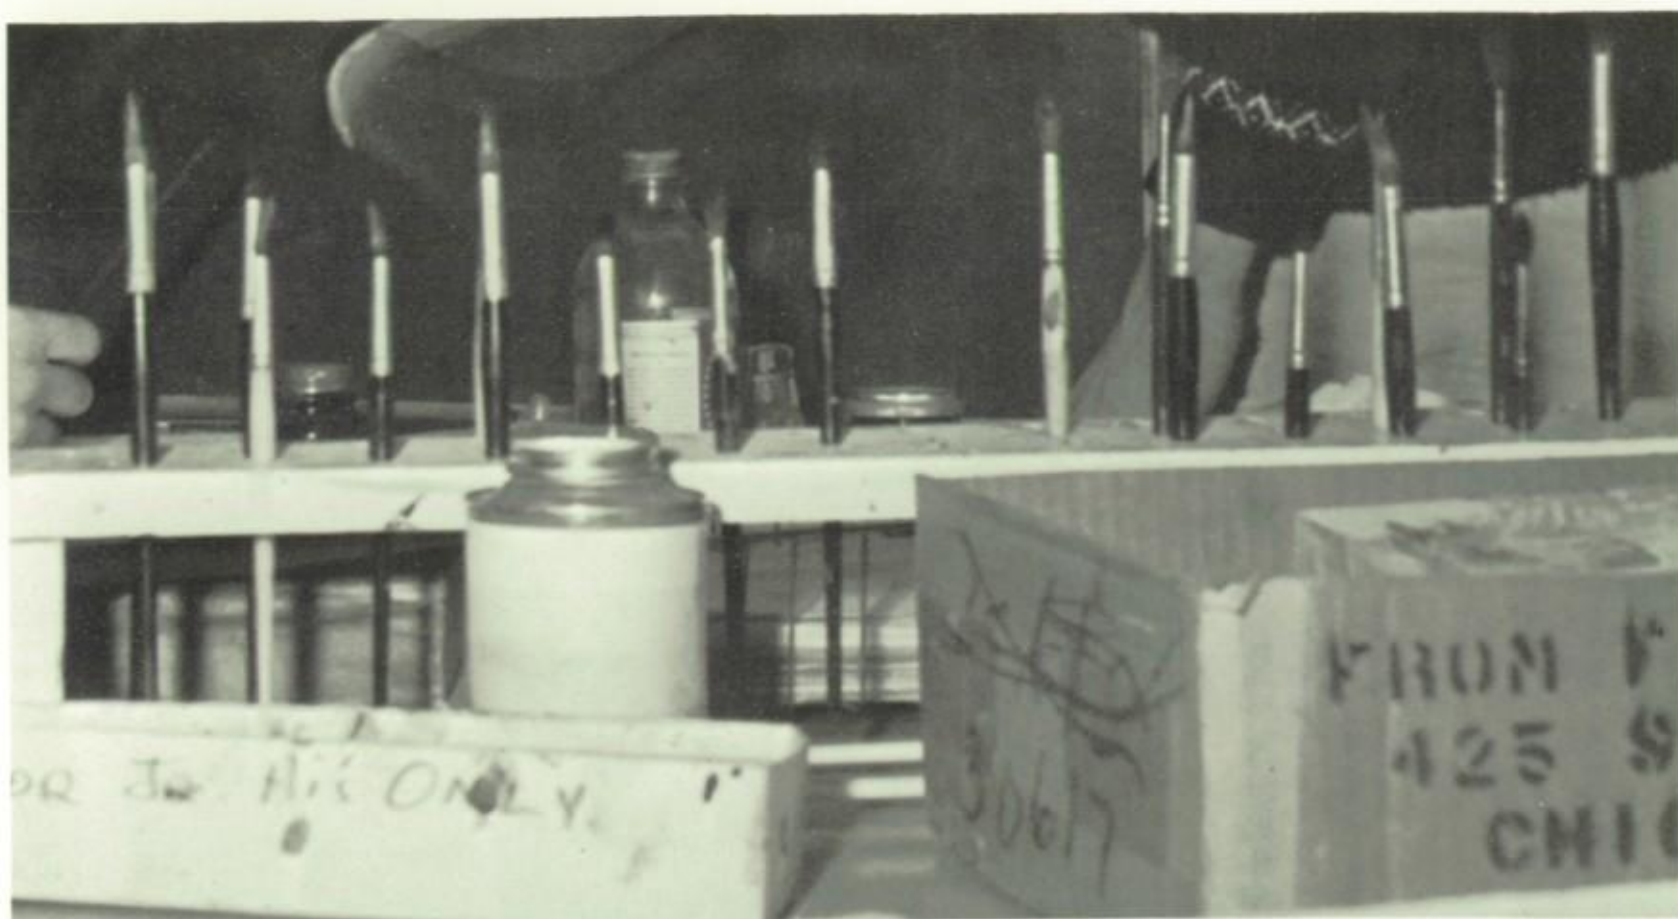

Offering a year round sequence of athletic events for all Wasson boys, the intramural program of Wasson's athletic department attracted some 350 participants. Intramural sports began in the fall with handball and gymnastics, progressed to basketball and wrestling in the winter, and wound up the year with softball and water polo. The competition within these sports was characterized by strenuous team and individual efforts, which led toward keen competition and much fun.

Gymnastics and handball, two of the many new additions to the list of intramural sports, gave Thunderbirds a chance to show their coordination and agility while sports like wrestling enabled one's strength to be shown. The team sports, basketball, softball, and water polo, proved once again to be the most popular of all the intramural sports offered. Some 250 boys turned out for these sports.

The coaching staff provided new and interesting sports this year along with maintaining its traditional ones, the ultimate goal being to interest every boy attending Wasson.

Full of Contrast and Fun

MR. PARIS GIVES last-minute instructions to the cast prior to the dress rehearsal.

"Time Out for Ginger," the first Thespian production, expressed the tomboy attitude of many adolescent girls who wish to compete with boys in sports. Fourteen-year-old Ginger, whose only interest is football, is one of three daughters of Howard and Agnes Carroll. Joan, the eldest daughter, is 18 and encounters the typical unending beau problems. Jean, age 16, is completely devoted to the stage.

Complications arise with Mr. Carroll's belief that all people should have complete freedom to do what they want. Thereupon Joan and Jean initiate a petition to end gym classes for girls. Ginger, on the other hand, tries out for and wins a position on the school football team. Not until she becomes nationally known does she realize she has been a fool. Her Challenged principles and the eternal triangle were the main ingredients in "The Male Animal" by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent, this year's junior class play. Although a comedy, the story seriously stressed the right of individuals to think for themselves.

Junior Class Play 'Male Animal'

Professor Tommy Turner's normally quiet life and his wife Ellen is suddenly turned upside-down when Joe Ferguson comes to town for the big game at the college where Tommy teaches English. Joe was the best football player the college ever had, and he was once unofficially engaged to Ellen.

In addition, Tommy's academic freedom is challenged when the board of trustees threatens him with expulsion if he reads a letter to his classes written by Vanzetti. At first his only ally is Michael Barnes, editor of the literary magazine. Even Ellen, in her preoccupation with Joe, is against him.

The combined pressures of the upset in his private and academic lives forces him to consider the real attributes of the male animal. Only after he and his colleagues realize these qualities is a resolution reached.

TODD DOUGALL GIVES the script a last-minute perusal before the dress rehearsal.

In Wasson's first sophomore production, the United States lost a war for the first time, and to a tiny European country whose only armed force is a band of bowmen. "The Mouse That Roared" is a delightful satire on present-day politics. It concerns the efforts of Queen Gloriana to ease the money problems of her microscopic domain. Is there a better way to do this than to lose a war with the United States, thereby becoming the recipient of unending aid and rehabilitation funds? The only catch to young Gloriana's beautiful plan is that her head bowman, Tully Bascom, captures the Q-bomb and several hostages when he and his men invade the United States during an air raid alert. Grand Fenwick wins the war and decides to keep the Q-bomb to protect the world from possible future disaster.

An inner plot is the love story of Gloriana and Tully, which blossoms after Gloriana realizes she is a woman as well as a queen. She has faith in Tully, even though her advisors think him a fool. "The Mouse That Roared" was adapted for the stage by Christopher Sergel from the book by Leonard Wibberly.

Creativity of Art Students

"The problem of any artist, from Da Vinci to you, is how to break up space," said Mr. Green, art instructor. So the art classes studied "how to break up space." Their tools were line, shape, color, and texture.

The first part of the year was spent in learning the tools. Students considered such matters as what lines mean, geometric shapes versus free form, color schemes, and texture conformed to design. They then moved on to sculpture, art history, including why the art of a particular period has certain characteristics, and three-dimensional stage settings or abstract illustrations of poetry.

TAKING ADVANTAGE OF the fall weather, Abby Susemihl sketches in a moment of relaxation.

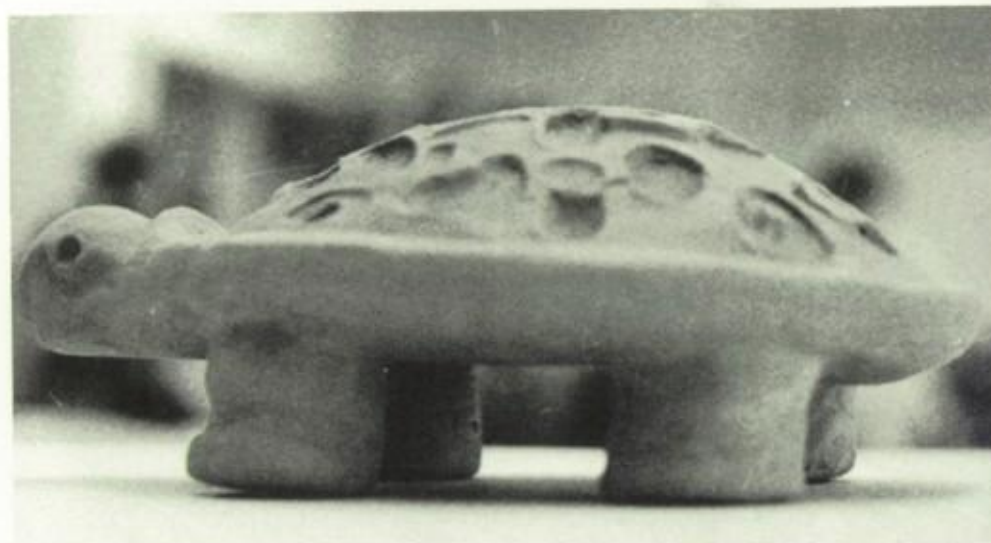

Art Displays and Exhibits Mark Fine Arts Fair

ABBY SUSEMIHL obtained very real dimensions in her full-length charcoal drawing.

Method of approach in this year's Fine Arts Fair ranged from complete objectivity through abstraction to absolute non-objectivity. Each work incorporated the philosophy, psychology, and history of art. Two-dimensional work emphasized color and line; three-dimensional work stressed the use of volume and light; four-dimensional work, mobiles, introduced movement and time.

The aim of the exhibit was to show the relationships and meanings found in life through art, rather than mere laws, facts, and theories of art elements and techniques.

"Littlest Angel" Becomes Tradition at Wasson

THE LITTLEST ANGEL looks on with curiosity as Emma Maharg sings about the birth of Christ.

Christmas was celebrated at Wasson with the presentation of the traditional "The Littlest Angel," Charles Tazewell's beloved story of the origin of the Star of Bethlehem. Susie Kennedy read the script as Loren Grace interpreted the problems of the four-year-old cherub. The Choristers provided the musical highlights for the play production classes' pantomime of the events in heaven and earth surrounding the birth of the Christ Child.

Emma Maharg sang the solo of the Understanding Angel, who finally provides the solution for the Littlest Angel's dilemma.

Preceding "The Littlest Angel" were numbers by the Orchestra, Brass Choir, Girls' Choir, and Songsters. Phylis Dempsey played the violin solo, "Ave Maria," accompanied by the Orchestra.

Choir Year Looked Upon as a Learning Experience

"I don't care how many mistakes you make — but try!" This was Mr. Meeker's encouragement as he strove to provide the Choristers with a learning experience through experimentation.

The music studied ranged from the works of the old masters to contemporary folk songs. They were as diverse as Mozart's "Gloria" from his "Twelfth Mass" and Rogers and Hammerstein's "No Other Love."

The Choristers performed for the student body at the Thanksgiving and choir assemblies, in the Christmas program, and at Commencement Vespers. In addition, they sang publicly throughout the year for local civic groups. Their public performances were climaxed by the annual choir tour, in which the members never know their destination until the day of the trip.

Songsters and Girls' Choir Participate in Drama

MR. BEARZI TRIES to instruct the choir in each facet of music.

Appearing in the school musical, "Dubble Trubble," singing in the Yuletide Chorale, and giving various performances for the student body and the public were the major activities of the Girls' Choir and the Sophomore Mixed Choir. Both organizations were under the direction of Mr. John Bearzi.

The 46 members of the Girls' Concert Choir were taken from all three classes. One of their major performances was Wasson's annual Spring Concert. Another highlight was the purchase of 100 new arrangements for the choir by the Vocal Music Department. These were sacred, folk, and popular music, including Broadway show tunes.

The officers were Kathy Danskin, chairman; Mary Ann Davitt, vice-chairman; Pat Caulder and Nancy Sonnenberg, co-treasurers; Terry Becker and Sandy Vineyard, co-secretaries; and Cheryl Miller and Eve Hoff, librarians. The accompanists were Julie Tanquary and Everlyn Fransen.

An innovation in the Vocal Music Department, the 63-voice Sophomore Mixed Choir voted to call themselves the Songsters. They were a versatile group, performing sacred as well as secular music. The choir was formed as an intermediate group between the preparatory choir and the Choristers. Special performances included sophomore assemblies and programs at the junior high schools which send students to Wasson.

THIS FUN-FILLED quartet, composed of Dave Bernard, Richard Wraith, Gary Williams and Doug Brenneman, specialized in solving other people's problems.

DANCERS WES WILLIAMSON, Dodie Foland, and Judy Keeton added to the pace of the show with their interpretations.

College Life and Love Spark 'Dubble Trubble'

Life and love at Kenwood College were the bases for Mr. Charles A. Meeker's musical, "Dubble Trubble." Lively pace and colorful costuming carried the action of the contemporary comedy.

Problems arise when Mortine, the choral director, and Joanne, the dramatics teacher, schedule programs for the same night in the auditorium. Joanne's father, the college president, cancels Mortine's concert, only to learn that Bob, the student body president, has made arrangements for the local chamber of commerce to sponsor a special telecast of the event. Dr. Calvert is forced to cancel Joanne's play, and Joanne is asked to write a review of the concert. Betty Lou, Joanne's assistant, changes the article, and the printed story thoroughly pans the concert. Betty Lou is expelled, Mortine's and Dr. Calvert's jobs are threatened, and romance is interrupted before the troubles are resolved in a post-graduation double wedding.

Band Concentrates on Study

By far the most complete instrumentation was present in this year's Thunderbird Band as compared to previous years. The 125-piece organization played at every Wasson football game, presenting half-time entertainment at all home games and at two away games.

At the end of the football season, the entire Thunderbird Marching Band began the transition to the Thunderbird Concert Band. This group gave two major concerts in the spring. The first was a formal concert in April, to which a special guest artist was invited. The second was the Pops Concert in May, in which soloists and ensembles from the Instrumental and Vocal Music Departments performed classical, popular, and Broadway music, combined with a touch of comedy.

The Preparatory Band was primarily a study group. It was composed largely of sophomores who felt the need of one semester or more of study before going into the Concert Band. Other members regularly played an instrument in the Concert Band and participated in the Prep Band while learning a new instrument. The 56-member group was directed by Mr. Nicholas Rossi and Mr. Gus Jackson.

Cabinet Displays Creativity and Originality in Planning

Three full months of brainstorming during summer vacation preceded Cabinet's action in the 1963-1964 school term. As a result, Homecoming festivities were unusually successful with the Dr. Wasson award, Thunderbird legend, class competition, queen presentation, aerial bombs, and carnival. The rickshaws built by Cabinet added to the atmosphere of "Fan Fair." Presentation of the Thunderbird in Oriental fashion was followed by the legend of the Thunderbird.

In addition to these activities, unique ideas were carried through in the committees under Cabinet heads. To keep Wasson's morale boosted, the Hootin' Pepananny was held in the patio; new pins and pennants were sold; and Mr. Preston declared war on Centennial. To maintain T-Bird spirit, Cabinet spent hours on intriguing assemblies in connection with Anti-Palmer Week, aerodynamics research, and the Christmas holidays. To keep the student body informed, sophomores were given an early orientation to the hustle of high school; students shared a glimpse into the life of Dr. Wasson; potential leaders were guided through Council Clinic.

Cabinet's business ranged from the purely local affairs of ward meetings and elections to the community level United Fund Drive. Members of Cabinet took on the responsibility of representing Roy J. Wasson High School in their contacts throughout the state. Mr. Kent Hill, advisor, and Cabinet worked in co-operation with the administration, creative arts departments, and public officials.

School Functions

SETTING THE STAGE for the successful Homecoming festivities, Cabinet proved their ability to plan dramatic events and to carry them out efficiently.

AS CABINET ADVISOR, Mr. Kent Hill, was called upon to guide the group's actions within school policy and to provide adult experience.

BOOSTING WASSON'S SPIRIT and having a great deal of fun, Cabinet members present ideas for "You Was There," depicting the rival's reactions to the Wasson-Palmer basketball game.

SPACE AGE equipment is demonstrated to sophomore assembly by a member of the Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Space-mobiles, jazz bands, and folksingers highlighted several of the series of assemblies presented to Wasson students. Two talent assemblies were held, one put on by Wasson and one by Colorado College. The bands from both NORAD and the Air Force Academy performed. The University of Colorado's choir and jazz band came from Boulder to entertain the student body.

Other assemblies featured such groups as the Falconaires and the Deaf and Blind School. Pep assemblies, queen-election assemblies, and special presentations at Thanksgiving and Christmas provided further entertainment. Secretary of Assemblies was John Corlew, and the sponsors were Mr. Paris and Mr. Christensen. Mr. Paris' stage craft classes took care of all technical stage preparations.

Courtesy Invites Students to Newcomer Parties

As new students arrived at Wasson during the year, Courtesy Committee invited them to a series of get-acquainted parties. At these parties, school officers and faculty members explained all the facets of Wasson to the newcomers. This was followed by some type of entertainment, such as folk singing.

During the Christmas season, committee members filled Wasson's halls with festive holiday decorations. They handled all student government correspondence throughout the year. Paula Peake was Secretary of Courtesy, and Mrs. Kilgore was the sponsor. Paula's assistants were Patty Provenzano and Dale Stewart.

Thunderbirds Keep Morale Soaring in Crucial Moments

ROY GAULT, Secretary of Morale, encourages students to support teams.

Before all basketball, football, and other major athletic activities, the students anxiously awaited the pep rallies which gave them the opportunity to strengthen their determination and courage and to let off the excess pep and enthusiasm that had been built up. Loyal Thunderbirds confirmed their belief in the football team by sending a record number of twenty-seven buses to the Centennial-Wasson game in Pueblo.

Through the combined efforts of Roy Gault, Secretary of Morale, all the cheerleaders, and an enthusiastic and cooperative student body, the spirit abounding from the halls of Wasson was at an all time high.

THE EFFORTS OF Vivian Reubens, Secretary of Publicity, and her many helpers made the daily announcement both informative and enjoyable.

DECK THE HALLS with clever posters seemed to be Publicity's goal as Jack Miller hangs his effort in the cafeteria.

Publicity Strives to Keep Thunderbirds Informed

Vivian Reubens, Secretary of Publicity, initiated a new method with her committee this year in which poster making was put on a competitive basis. This resulted in a large variety of ideas which evolved into some interesting and different posters and it also enabled those students with art ability to participate in the student organization.

Another idea put into active use was the sole use of the club bulletin in the main hall, rather than publicizing the clubs' events and activities during the daily announcements.

A very large committee kept the students informed of all aspects of school life through posters giving reminders of all basketball, football, swimming, wrestling, track, golf, and tennis activities, as well as the sophomore, junior, and senior plays, all the dances, and many assemblies throughout the year.

PAT BAILEY TACKS UP the minutes of a cabinet meeting to keep the student body informed of the cabinet's actions.

PAT BAILEY, Secretary of Records, enjoys the better part of a secretary's job, sitting on the boss's lap, as she takes notes from Tom Hurley, president of the student body.

Pat Bailey, Secretary of Records, was responsible for the quick and accurate tallies of votes for queen, council, and cabinet elections. To speed up voting and the counting of votes, Wasson students used voting machines for cabinet elections.

Keeping the student body informed, Pat kept the minutes of each cabinet meeting and posted them on the bulletin board in the foyer. Other important purposes of Records Committee were to stimulate new friendships among the members and to provide the opportunity for students to work for the good of their school.

Safety Initiates Effective Parking Lot Procedures

Jim Berthrong, Secretary of Safety, was responsible for the efficient organization of hall monitors, who helped to relieve the congestion in the halls during lunch hours by enforcing safety rules. While increased enrollment at Wasson made it difficult for monitors to control traffic, students and monitors cooperated to the fullest extent.

Another important function handled by Safety Committee was the initiation of new parking lot procedures, which were described by Mr. Christensen as being very effective. A full-time adult parking lot attendant saw to it that cars were parked correctly and in the proper places, and that no one came to his car during classes. All cars had to be registered in Mr. Christensen's office and had to display stickers.

Social Makes Dramatic Use of Color and Sound

SCOTT BROWN pauses to discuss with Jerry Fogg the possibilities of new decorating ideas that would add creativeness and impressive moods to Wasson's dances.

GRAND FINALE of all Social Committee's efforts arrives with the closing hours of "Oriental Autumn."

Three to four miles of crepe paper, hundreds of yards of cheese cloth, sticky rolls of masking tape, and the ingenuity of creative Social Committee members served as the basic structure for each dance. The unique and imaginative Hollywood "fog machine" highlighted the Christmas "Sno Fantasy." The weeks of planning made possible the memorable nights of "Oriental Autumn," "Moonlight and Roses," and the Inaugural Ball.

Providing "color and sound . . . the tones of percussion" was Secretary of Social Scott Brown's primary aim. At committee meetings before each dance the members decided theme, colors, ceiling type, and sub-committee heads. Individuals were allowed to work independently as members looked to area business establishments for some of the major decorations. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Jack Frost, Wasson's dances were presented with impact.

JIM EDWARDS INTERRUPTS the lunchtime cramming of food and facts to sell Wasson pennants and folios.

Treasury Committee introduced an entirely new and different button to the Wasson student body. First of its type in the Pikes Peak region, this button bore a picture of the 1963 varsity football team.

In previous years, Cabinet members were responsible for all school treasury sales. This year, however, an active Treasury Committee of Wasson students carried out the job of selling pins, book covers, pennants, and decals.

Because of the increased selling opportunities, the sale of T-Bird pennants reached record heights. Weather-permitting, the outdoor cubbyhole, also a first for the Treasury Committee, was open in the patio during the lunch hours. Steve Leonard, Secretary of Treasury, and Mr. Kent Hill, sponsor, were responsible for these innovations.

Patty Smith, whose office of student body vice-president included the presidency of the Inter-Club Council, was assisted by Jean Hagius, I.C.C. secretary.

I.C.C. was again in charge of the Homecoming Carnival for which the various clubs built booths. To keep students aware of the clubs' activities, I.C.C. also directed the organizations' displays in the showcase.

Interesting and educational for students and teachers alike was the spring Teacher Appreciation Day, which I.C.C. sponsored. By actually teaching the classes, students became more appreciative of the patience and toil required of a teacher. Mr. Robert Sheverbush and Mr. G. W. Blackney sponsored I.C.C.

Quill and Scroll Initiates 20 Student Journalists

PAUSING AT THE PUNCH BOWL after the ceremony are senior initiates DeeDee Tomhave and Leslie Helfrich.

During an impressive candle lighting ceremony on March 5, 1964, twenty new members were initiated into the Wasson chapter of Quill and Scroll, a national journalism society for high school students. Members were given Quill and Scroll pins, membership certificates, and a magazine subscription to "Quill and Scroll" magazine. These initiates were chosen from the staffs of the Wahian, Thunderbolt, and Penman for outstanding contributions to high school journalism. Quill and Scroll, although an honorary organization, did much to foster enthusiasm in its members and encouraged them to maintain an active interest in journalism.

Of special interest to some members was the field trip taken to the Wasson print shop to observe the mechanical aspects of publications. Mr. Robert Hill, Wahian advisor, and Mr. Robert Simons, Thunderbolt advisor, were sponsors of Quill and Scroll.

DEBATERS FROM NINETEEN Colorado schools register at Wasson for the Pikes Peak Invitational High School Speech Festival.

PERUSING QUOTATION CARDS used for debating, Steve Hunt and Lenard Rioth await their turn to speak.

Forum, Wasson's club for students especially interested in public speaking, worked with the topic, "Resolved: that social security benefits should be extended to include complete medical care." Several debates were held at Wasson, including the annual Novice Debate Tournament.

The eighteen members, led by President Steve Hunt, also attended speech meets at various colleges in Colorado. The most important of these were the Colorado College Invitational and the Rocky Mountain Speech Conference at the University of Denver. Between formal meets, debaters practiced skills such as oratory and interpretive reading, guided by Mr. Higgins.

Scientists Discuss Relativity, Dentistry with F.S.A.

Future Scientists launched the year's activities by winning third place for their ping-pong ball shooting booth in the Homecoming carnival. Early in the year four engineers spoke to the club about careers and professional training in engineering. Other visiting professors discussed relativity and crystallography. The Palmer High School science club was invited to Wasson to hear a talk on dentistry given by Dr. Thomas Messinger.

Dr. Frank Gately lectured on game theory at a joint meeting of Future Scientists and Math Club. At another meeting a film on optical masers was presented for the entire student body. Mr. Charles Reser, the club sponsor, helped many of the members with the projects they entered in the annual Science Fairs in March.

Members went on field trips where they gained experience and received advice from their sponsor, Mr. Roldan, on taking various types of pictures in different set-ups, obtaining distinct effects, and arranging surrounding elements.

Camera Club participated in various projects in order to finance the purchase of equipment which was needed in the photographic laboratory. At the annual Camera Club party, a new program was initiated where individuals who did their jobs well and showed improvement received a photographic award.

I.R.C. Attends 'Mock' United Nations Session

International Relations Club engaged in a program of providing speakers and showing films covering pertinent current events. The club followed a schedule of three out-of-town conferences: The International Relations Conference at the University of Denver, The World Affairs Conference in Boulder, and the "mock" United Nations Session in Greeley.

Subjects covered by the speakers and the films included the United Nations and its operations, the Soviet Union, Asia, The Alliance for Progress, Latin America, and emerging African nations.

Wa-tones Appear on Television at Christmas

EARLY BIRD SINGERS, Wa-tones rehearse madrigals at 7:20 in the morning.

An educational convention at the Antlers Hotel first invited the Wa-tones to sing this year. At Thanksgiving they sang for a ladies church group at the First Presbyterian Church. In the spring they represented Wasson at the University of Colorado at a conference for Colorado high school madrigal groups.

At Christmas time the Wa-tones, a co-curricular club selected from the a capella choir, made three television appearances. First they sang on the "Jack Finlayson Show," and later on the "Petticoat Party Show." On December 25 they joined the a capella choir for a Christmas Special. They also sang Christmas selections for a group of business women at the Village Inn, and invited the past members of Wa-tones to a caroling party.

SCANNING SHARPS AND FLATS, Mary Anne Davitt and Pat Perry study their parts between songs.

Wa-tonettes began the season with a performance of religious and secular Christmas music for the local Oddfellow Lodge, and later in the year participated in the Fine Arts Fair and the Shakespeare Festival. They also sang in the musical "Dubble Trubble," which was composed by Mr. Meeker. The Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies featured the Wa-tonettes as part of the Girls' Choir.

Mr. John Bearzi directed this co-curricular club for the first time this year. The members of Wa-tonettes were selected from the Girls' Choir on a competitive basis. Their officers were Charlotte Perry, president; Peggy Taylor, vice-president; and Pat Caulder, secretary-treasurer.

Frequent one-day trips to Monarch Pass and Breckenridge were topped off by over-nighters to Vail Pass and Arapahoe Basin in February and Crested Butte in March.

1963-1964 Ski Bird officers were LeAnn Bashore, president; Ron Lamutt, vice-president; Joni Moon, secretary; Carol Might, treasurer; and Debbie Griffith, I.C.C. representative. Miss Mitzi Brown and Mr. John Hennessey sponsored the club.

Pre-Med Members Witness Surgery at Denver General

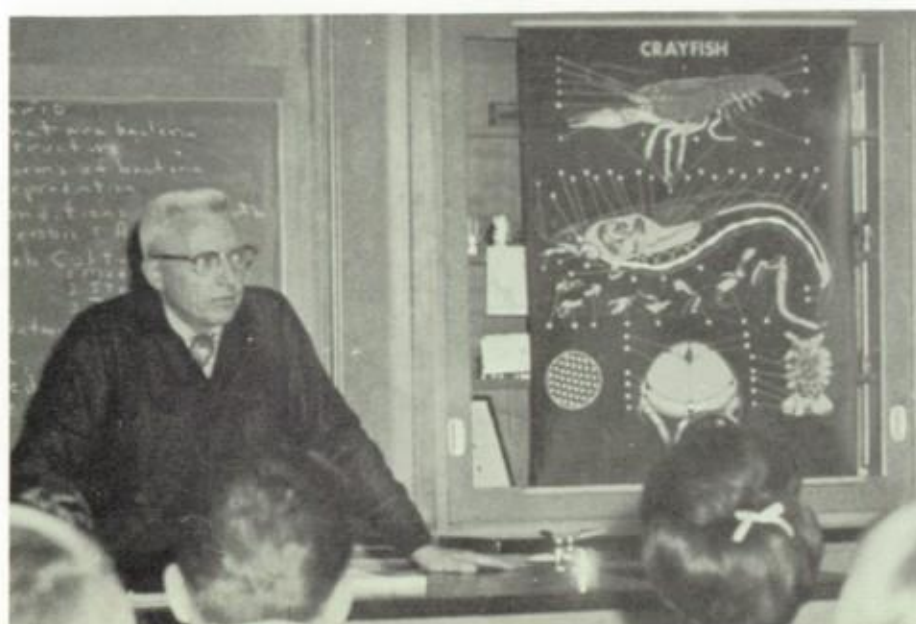

PRE-MED OFFICERS DISCUSS last minute business items concerning field trips and guest speakers before the business meeting is brought to order.

Colorado Springs' doctors, as representatives of the vast opportunities in medicine, brought to Pre-Med members useful information concerning their respective medical fields. Guest speakers ranged from neurosurgeons and specialists in open-heart surgery to obstetricians and child psychiatrists. Extensive films of operations were furnished by Dr. Berthrong.

Visits to Denver General Hospital to observe surgery became the highlight of the year's program. Possibilities in veterinary medicine were revealed through a trip to Fort Collins. Profits from money-making ventures by the club were contributed to the Hope House to aid in the furtherance of their rehabilitation work.

GUEST SPEAKERS, present at most meetings, brought information to Pre-Med members concerning all fields of medicine.

Thunderbolt Greets Students

BUCK RAMSEY and Nancy Wallick exchange activity tickets for current events. The T-Bolt is being distributed by Pat Cowan, editorial co-editor, and Karen Cooper.

Under the leadership and guidance of a new sponsor, Mr. Robert Simons, the 1963-64 Thunderbolt staff turned out sixteen editions of one of the state's top-rated high school newspapers. Issues were distributed to 2,100 activity ticket holders and to cash customers during the three lunch hours.

New ideas for the newspaper were gleaned from the study of exchange papers from all parts of the nation. To help finance the publication, student journalists solicited advertisements from local businessmen, thereby gaining experience in salesmanship and management.

Staff members received a first-hand look at the overall operation and circulation of a big newspaper when they toured the complete plant of the Denver Post. They also traveled to Denver for an afternoon's entertainment at Cinerama.

Thunderbolt editor-in-chief was Lynn Rainier. Other editors were Sherry Irving, news editor; Madalyne Gunn, feature editor; Veralyn Cox, business manager; Ray Baslee, art editor; Sue Alm, editorial editor; Steve Wilman, sports editor; Carol Jensen, copy editor; and Karen Cooper, exchange editor.

RUBBING IN STAIN, Chuck Andrews and Ray Bell complete the final step in finishing the desk for a class project.

Working in the woodshop during and after school on class and individual projects constituted for the most part the year's activities of Wood Butchers. Participation in the Homecoming carnival brought the relatively new club to the attention of more Wasson students.

High point in the program was a day's excursion to the Florissant region. While accompanying several lumbermen into the wooded areas, members were informed of methods used in selecting the proper timber and in transporting it to the mills. On return to the mill, members were given a complete guided tour.

Officers for 1963-1964 were Gay Smith, president; Barry McDonald, vice-president; Kent Nygaard, secretary-treasurer; and John Newman, I.C.C. representative. Mr. Daniel Johns, Industrial Arts instructor, sponsored Wood Butchers.

Rodeo Club Sponsors Regional Rodeo for Youth

Wasson High Rodeo Association held its fall and spring gymkhanas, open to all members of the club, at the Kit Carson Riding Club grounds. To provide opportunity for competition outside of Wasson High School, W.H.R.A. introduced a regional rodeo to their year's program. Invitations to participate in the spring rodeo were extended to Wasson High students and to persons within the age specifications throughout the Pikes Peak region. As the main attraction of this year, the rodeo included events for both girls and boys. Featured were wild bronc riding, calf roping, bull riding, and girls' barrel racing.

Gold Tassels Distinguish

Two new traditions at Wasson were begun this year by National Honor Society. Initiation of the 115 new members was held in the evening for the first time. A reception for members and parents followed. At the end of the year senior members wore gold tassels on their graduation caps, contrasting with the customary red.

For Homecoming the Honor Society built a sponge-throwing booth. Regular meetings featured speakers such as a Dutch exchange student from Colorado College. At the end of each quarter, N.H.S. compiled the student Honor Roll, directed by their sponsors, Miss Wallingford and Mr. Christensen.

Members of the Girls' Athletic Association began their 63-64 calendar by presenting the P.T.A. with an exhibition of gymnastic skills on the Back-to-School night in October. They gave demonstrations on the trampoline, mats, rings, and the horse. Also on the fall schedule were soccer and field hockey games with the G.A.A. chapters from Manitou and Palmer high schools. The girls also represented Wasson at an invitational playday in the spring with the region's other high schools.

The only essential membership requirement was that the girls possess a sincere desire to promote good sportsmanship and teamwork.

Field Trips Arouse Interest in Ecology Enthusiasts

Under the direction of Mr. Donald Scoby, the Ecology Club, a new and unique club, was established this year at Wasson. Ecology enthusiasts were offered the opportunity to obtain a better understanding of the plants and animals of this region in their natural environment.

The aspect that highlighted the year's activities for many were the field trips taken to such areas as Pikes Peak, the Mesa, Ute Pass, Garden of the Gods, Cheyenne Canyon, and Palmer Park. When weather did not permit these trips, the group was visited by Dr. Beidleman, a local ecology expert.

Elected as the 1963-1964 officers were Carolyn Johnson, president; Carolyn Kellogg, secretary; Del Holmes, treasurer; and Jim Junker, I.C.C. representative.

Thespians and Footlighters Face Initiation as

TWO SELF-TAUGHT GEISHA girls, Judy Keeton and Vickie Richards, brush up on the techniques of Oriental dancing for the Homecoming Carnival.

Behind the scenes in the Wasson Drama Department, there exists a group of drama enthusiasts known as the Thespians and Footlighters. Through their efforts, the lighting, costuming, and the scenery of all the major plays were produced.

In the fall, the group chartered a bus to Denver to see the movie, "Cleopatra," and a few of the members traveled to the Colorado Speech League convention in Boulder. They also participated in the Homecoming Carnival with an Oriental skit. The Thespian play, "Time Out For Ginger," which many of the Thespians and Footlighters acted in or helped to produce, was presented to the student body in October.

Besides producing the Thespian, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior plays, and the Christmas program, the Drama Club showed popular movies periodically throughout the year. Before would-be Footlighters were initiated, they had to earn five points, and the Thespians had to earn fifteen points. A point was earned with every seven and one half hours of backstage work.

Drama coach, Mr. Homer Paris, directed the officers who were: president, Vickie Richards; vice-president, Liz Hull; secretary, Lee Chapman; treasurer, Donna Loftus; I.C.C. representative, Loren Grace; and recorder, Donna Sullivan.

Literary Guild Has Banner Book Store Sales in 1964

Wasson students had access to a vast selection of pocket books, note cards for Forum and speech needs, scratch pads and other study helps through the facility of the Book Store, which was managed by the Literary Guild. Teachers often referred students to the Book Store for materials to supplement text books.

Because of the split shift schedule, the Literary Guild operated during the noon hours on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Although members were required to maintain a B-3 average, the experience of managing a business made the extra effort worthwhile.

Bowling Club Sends Touring Team Throughout State

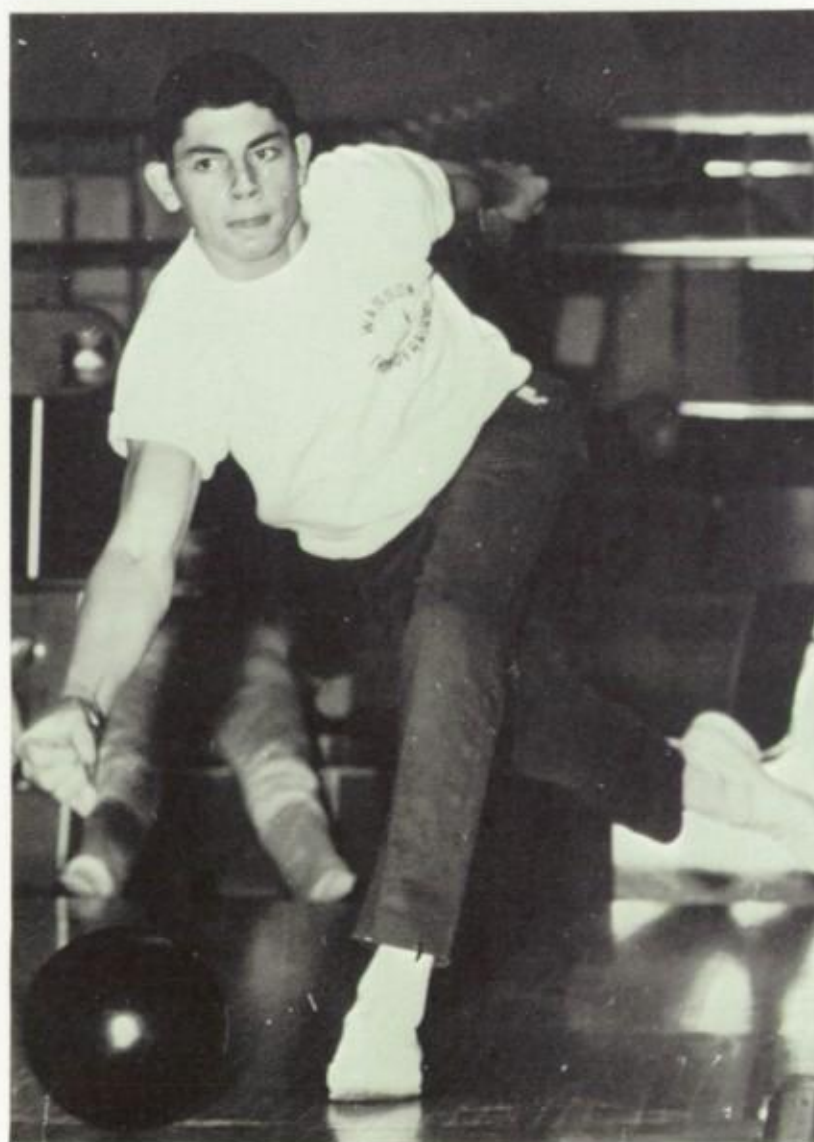

PRACTICE AND PRECISE form bring Bowling Club president, Paul Hoffman, top scores.

Members of Wasson's Bowling Club, which is a chapter of the National Jr. League, participated in their nationwide tournament in May. In addition to the weekly games among the ten four-man teams, a touring team of the top five scorers represented Wasson at numerous tournaments throughout the state.

Especially deserving bowlers were awarded trophies at the conclusion of the season. Trophies were given to the highest teams, the highest individual scorers, the high series man, for the high game, and for the best overall average.

Paul Hoffman served as president, with Sharon Diamond, vice-president; Jack Swanson, secretary-treasurer; and Gary Neece and Jan Schaeffer, I.C.C. representatives.

F.T.A.'s aid to this program, which was sponsored by National Council of Jewish Women, was given by instructing individuals in the class or by making teachers' aids.

MRS. REIBSCHEID, explaining the Literacy Program at the monthly meeting, presents several case histories of successful graduates from the Program and gives suggestions for extra jobs to be done by F.T.A. members.

Junction for State Convention

Practice teaching, the first valuable step toward actual exploration of the teaching profession, was considered by the Future Teachers to be one highpoint of the year's program. This experience was made possible each year, for the school district has depended upon the F.T.A. clubs in Colorado Springs to substitute for elementary school teachers involved with in-service training.

Spring activities were topped with the weekend jaunt to Grand Junction to attend the Colorado Future Teachers of America Convention at Central High School. Sponsorship of the Commencement Dance each year and the 1963 Homecoming mums sale enabled F.T.A. to offer scholarships to several graduating F.T.A. seniors.

1963-1964 officers — Karen Loptien, president; Betty Christman, vice-president; Roberta Powell, secretary; Sandy Davis, treasurer; Shirley Roth, historian; and Mike Rubridge, I.C.C. representative — have worked with the sponsors, Mr. Jack Barber and Mr. Glenn Dalton, to offer Wasson's aspiring teachers an opportunity to investigate this career.

WHIPPED CREAM PIES plus unwilling teachers as targets equaled a fair amount of frustrated students who failed to hit the bull's eye.

Latin Club Auctions Slaves at Costume Banquet

ROYAL PURPLE AND GOLD decorate this Roman lady's stola, which Linda McCutcheon made and modeled for the state J.C.L. convention.

CHATTING IN LATIN are Latin Club's officers Jan Slaughter, quæstor; Susan Wheeler, scribe; and Mary Anne Davitt, consul.

Roman togas and tunics abounded at the annual Latin Club banquet with Palmer. Junior high Latin students were sold on an auction block to club members for a few cents apiece, and the money collected was contributed to the Junior Classical League scholarship fund.

Later Latin Club traveled by chartered bus to the state Junior Classical League convention at George Washington High School in Denver. Various club members conducted the art contest, designed and printed the program covers, and sponsored the mythology examinations. Mary Anne Davitt, a third-year Latin student, campaigned for state office. The other members competed in the many art, handiwork, writing, history, and grammar contests.

Spanish Pinatas Pop in Holiday Celebrations

Spanish Club entered a booth in the Homecoming Carnival which featured homemade papier-mache pinatas. Later in the year the club held a raffle, offering as prizes such things as badminton sets, stadium seats, and dozens of straw hats. At Christmas members of the club solicited local merchants to obtain presents for children at Lady of Guadalupe Church. These gifts were presented at a special pinata party, which is held annually.

In the spring a Mexican padre spoke to Spanish Club in his native tongue on the customs, history, and geography of Mexico. He and other speakers were invited by Miss Joanna Jolly, club sponsor. The officers were Karen Fiene, president; Agatha Haun, vice-president; Peggy Smith, secretary; and Steve Dyer, treasurer.

C-Club Captures First Place

Enthusiasm and spirit were lifted to a peak as Wasson's C-Club supported each athletic team with combined efforts. Cooperating with the Pep Club, the C-Club organized an active pep section to boost morale.

At the spring Athletic Recognition Assembly, C-Club presented corsages to cheerleaders, and during the year they paid the cheerleaders' way to out-of-town games. The lettermen also performed a service by selling programs at home basketball games.

Throughout the year, lettermen performed many industrious activities for the good of the school, such as cleaning the parking lot. Winning first place award for the best booth at the carnival, C-Club displayed variety with a dunking booth. Lettermen as well as coaches succumbed to a watery fate.

Officers were Keith Crouch, president; Ron Nighswonger, vice-president; Gary Williams, I.C.C. representative. Mr. Gib Funk sponsored the club.

Homemakers Prepare Thanksgiving Basket as Project

TO EASE THE PANGS of hunger during the semester finals, Homemakers sell doughnuts to famished students.

A Thanksgiving basket was prepared by the Homemakers as a service project for a needy family in the area. This basket, consisting of food donated by the members and meat purchased with chapter funds, formed a complete Thanksgiving dinner suited to the needs of individual members of the family. The name of a family was chosen for the club by the Salvation Army on the basis of need.

Wasson Homemakers, under the guidance of Miss Mary Lee Hicks and Mrs. Mary Hargrove, performed many other services, such as mending football uniforms and selling doughnuts during final week. They also sold doughnuts and carmel-covered apples at their Homecoming booth.

Homemakers treated themselves to dinner at a local restaurant for the purpose of improving social etiquette as well as providing entertainment. Preparing a complete dinner for their mothers gave the members a chance to plan a complete dinner and provide entertainment also.

Officers were Kathy Gill, president; Jean Goettl, vice-president; Linda Skorusa, secretary; Janet Likeness, treasurer; Linda Mead, historian.

F.B.L.A. Promotes Business Leadership

Purposes of the Future Business Leaders of America are to develop competent business leadership, strengthen the confidence of young men and women in themselves and their work, create interest and understanding in the choice of business occupations, and develop character and training for these occupations.

To promote these purposes, Wasson High F.B.L.A. club members invited speakers representing fields of business, such as real estate, marketing, secretarial work, book-keeping, and accounting. Members also planned a field trip to seek insight to real business functions.

MRS. MASSA and Miss Merrell explain the operation of duplicating machine to Susan Anderson and Judy Cope.

A state convention was held in March at which all F.B.L.A. clubs in the state met to exchange ideas, methods, and projects of other schools. Money-making projects included the sale of Wasson ball-point pens and shorthand notebooks.

Holding office for 1963-1964 were Judy Cope, president; Pat Martinko, vice-president; Linda Norwood, secretary; Shirley Igou, treasurer; Judy Farley, reporter; and Connie Force, I.C.C. representative. Sponsors were Miss Merrell and Mrs. Massa.

1964 Wahian Presents Portrait

ADDING TO THE SOUNDS of "Only three days until deadline" and "Who took my pictures?" Gail Elliott types captions to be sent to local typesetter.

Emphasis on "The Many Faces of Wasson" enabled editor Art Wright and assistant editor Karren Cogburn to capture the varied moods of student body and faculty. The aim of the 1964 Wahian was to represent all facets of school life. Staff members strove to use large, dynamic pictures in co-ordination with a continued design motif on division pages. Advisor Mr. Robert Hill aided each section through his suggestions and encouragement to produce the best possible edition.

The ever-present deadlines were sufficient to induce the Wahian staff into action as soon as several weeks' orientation was complete. Each section editor then set preliminary deadlines for all copy and pictures, and assisted the new staff members. Student photographers under the direction of Mr. G. Roldan were credited for ninety-five per cent of the pictures taken.

As the final pages were sent for lithographing at the American Yearbook Company in Topeka, Kansas, staff members breathed a sigh of relief. With job summaries and theme suggestions turned in, work on the 1965 edition began in earnest.

KARREN COGBURN and Art Wright work on final layouts and figure picture dimensions for the opening section and division pages.

"STICKY BUSINESS, this, don't you think?" Linda Meyers completes final stage, pasting all pictures and copy, before turning pages in to the editors.

Classes

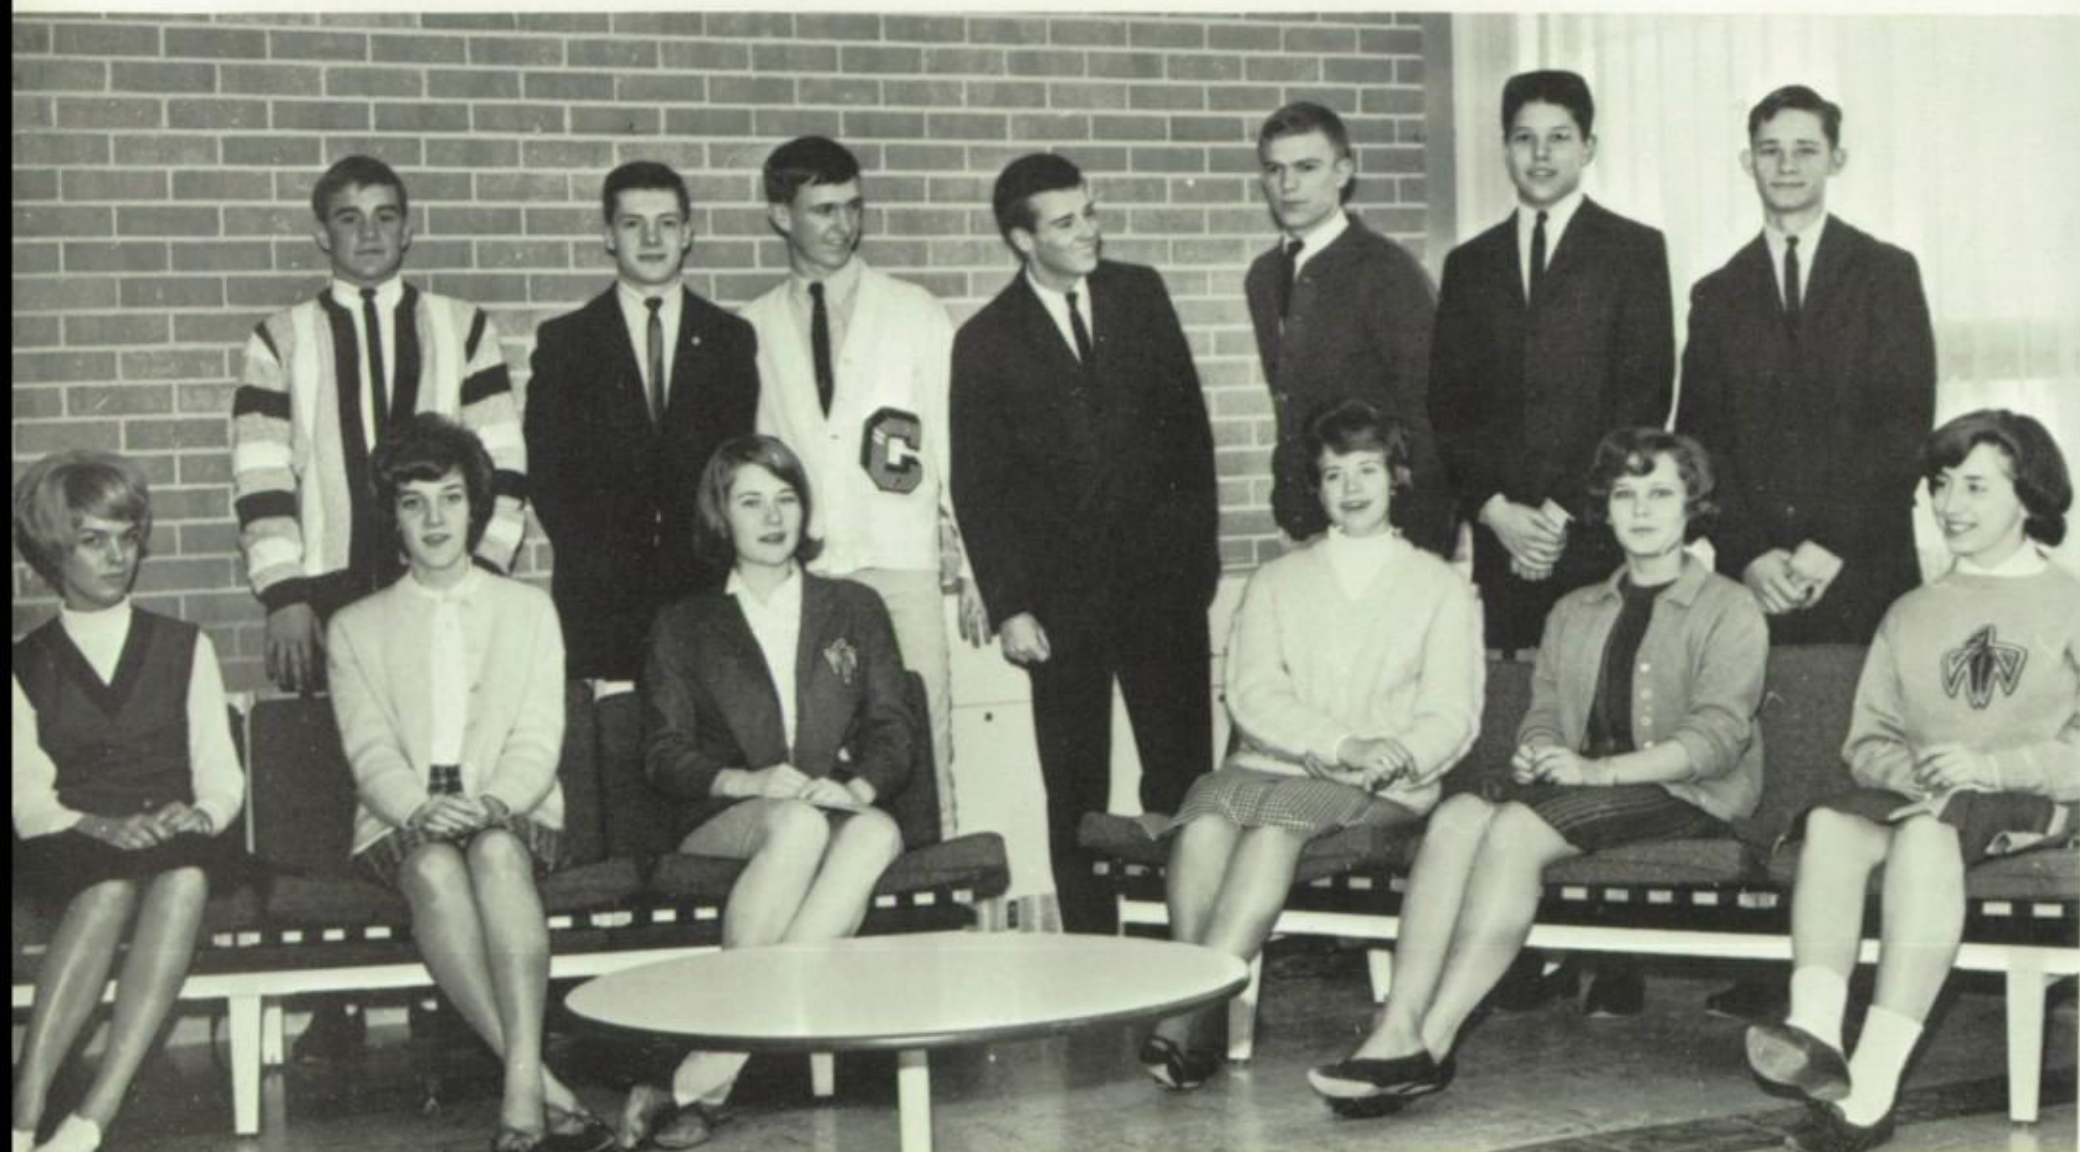

CHATting IN THE Student Center, Senior Council sponsors Mrs. Roberts and Mr. Brinton provide invaluable assistance to Senior Class President Bill Mitchell.

Early in the year, the class of 1964 demonstrated its competitive spirit by capturing the first place title in pagoda building during the Homecoming class competition, by securing the fifty dollar prize from the P.T.A. membership drive, and by filling the greatest number of busses for the Centennial football game. Later, college board examinations and senior speeches challenged senior intellect. During a special senior assembly early in March, the details of the senior trip were revealed. This year's class trip differed from those of previous years. By not including a visit to the state capitol, more time was spent in an enjoyable afternoon at Denver City Park. The memorable year was climaxed by the traditional Junior-Senior Prom and graduation ceremonies.

Council members, led by Senior Class President Bill Mitchell and Vice-president Bill McClellan, directed the Student United Fund Drive. Arrangements for the class trip, senior gift, and council dance were also supervised by the council. Sponsors vital in its organization were Mrs. Roberts and Mr. Brinton.

College and Scholarship Applications

Enthusiasm, spirit, and pride denoted the junior class, still the largest in Wasson's history. Carrying on the tradition of class competition, the class of '65 took second in the homecoming pageant, second in the PTA drive, and first in competition for bus sign-ups for the Pueblo Centennial football game. Under the leadership of the junior council, the class gave the seniors the annual prom with the proceeds from their class play, "The Male Animal."

President Charlie Steel and vice-president Susie Waymire led council meetings during the course of the 1963-64 school year. Class sponsors Mrs. Hargrove and Mr. Dalton gave encouragement to council members and offered valuable ideas and advice regarding junior council projects.

Sophomores Vie for Positions on Council

SOPHOMORE CLASS sponsors, Miss Sherron Nay and Mr. Wilburn Derrick, discuss the problems of the class with Mary Rollings, vice-president, and Bruce Meade, class president.

This year's sophomore class entered Wasson with a hard-to-beat combination of soaring school spirit and a high amount of enthusiasm and support for all school activities.

After the customary initiations, the class of 1966 settled down to business in their new school.

Under the leadership of the sophomore sponsors, Mr. Wilburn Derrick and Miss Sherron Nay, the class participated in many different forms of class competition, including the annual P.T.A. drive, in which they were awarded second place.

This year's homecoming activities also included a pagoda race, but despite a fine effort, the sophomores came in behind the two upperclasses.

The class that entered Wasson at the beginning of the 1963-64 school year will further their education with many cherished memories of their first year at Wasson.

HIGH SCHOOL: A 70-dollar-a-day job

If you have a friend who is thinking of dropping out of high school, ask him this question: "Would you continue if you were paid $70 a day until graduation?"

Statistics show that the average high school graduate earns $50,000 more during his life than the average eighth grade graduate. It breaks down to this: Four years of high school equals 720 days. Each day spent earning a diploma is worth $70. And that doesn't include additional income from summer employment.

What's more, jobs traditionally open to non-graduates are rapidly disappearing. The unemployment rate among non-graduates is 2½ times that of the average high school graduate.

The tragedy of it all is pointed out by the United States Chamber of Commerce. It reports that the number of openings for skilled jobs in the U. S. almost equals the number of unskilled, unemployed persons.

This nation's industry and business need trained people by the thousands. What's wrong with getting that training in high school at a rate of $70 a day (in future income)?

Last minute chaos . . .
the end of 1963-1964 yearbook.

Kent
 we have really had a lot of in English class haven't we.
 at least we gave the teacher a hard time by getting the right answers.
 however, my car is still better than yours! Good luck in the future to a nice guy

Kent,
 It has really been nice having you in English and sponsor group. I am so glad that you and I both will be able to look back on 64 and say
 "we were Finis's boys". Good luck always.

Kent,
 To a nice guy
 but a big tease.
 Have a nice summer.

Kent,
 You no good for nothing kid you. I'm really not going to say anything slow!
Thank you PLEASE It's really been fun having you in my classes. This year
 I bet old Atwood is glad to get rid of us. When are you going to race my corn grinder. Don't forget my Good Mallory system. Be hope and stay cool you around to see you around

Kent,

Boy, have I seen you get into alot of trouble these last few years. I hope you get rid of that knave of getting trouble, you & could land in some place bad.

Remember, Mr. Peterson, Mr. Garnet, Mike Pesh, and Chad Cahoon. Some of the high spots (?) in our school life.

You have a real love for life and fun and may it keep you happy always. Thank you for the gum and pertzles throughout the year.
It's all been fun!

Best wishes and stay out of trouble.

Kent,

Well looks like finally made it. Here I've known you since 8th grade & now we're graduating together. All & all it has been just great having you as one of the best friends a person could want to have. I really treasure your friendship & always will.
Stay just as sweet & cool as you are now and you'll always have a wonderful life. Just remember - stay the same ol' Kent.
We love you for it. I have had more fun & laughs with you in the past 4 years than I'll ever have again.

I wish you the best of luck in everything you do. I know you'll make the best X-ray technician ever! Hope to see you alot this summer & in the years to come.

Love ya loads,

Donna

Kent — (64)"
To a real neat guy who is a blast to be with. Take it easy this summer and the best of luck in the near future, OK so.
Be good and TRY to stay out of TROUBLE.

Love,
Pat

Stay out of trouble & keep gossip to yourself - you'll be better off.
Love ya - and couldn't ever forget ya.

Best.
You are a great guy, but sometimes I hate you and sometimes I love you. I am typing to all the guys
you are a wish you the best of luck.
I hope you will remember in good though well but

Kent,

In spite of all the trouble and I mean trouble you've caused me in the past 4 years. I still think you're a pretty neat guy. Thank-you for a wonderful time at the Prom. Good Luck in the Future. Be Good (if you can)

Love Ya
Carol
